Nixon Vows To Keep Bombing

Provincial Capital Hit . . .

N. Viets Attack Quang Tri City

Saigon (AP) — North Vietnamese forces using Soviet-built tanks and heavy weapons Thursday launched major attacks against South Vietnamese defenders on four sides of Quang Tri City in renewed assaults below the demilitarized zone.

Brig. Gen. Vu Van Giai, commander of the South Vietnamese 3rd Infantry Division defending Quang Tri province, termed the situation "extremely critical." Senior U.S. advisers from Da Nang rushed to the battle area in helicopters.

South Vietnamese casualties were said to range from light to moderate.

Attacks also were launched on other fronts, including the district towns of Bong Son on South Vietnam's central coast and Dau Tieng, north of Saigon. At the provincial capital of An Loc, also north of Saigon, 10 South Vietnamese were reported killed and 65 wounded in a 1,500 round artillery barrage.

U.S. 7th Fleet destroyers were called in to aid the South Vietnamese from offshore.

In the central highlands, the enemy drive slowed Wednesday. South Korean troops to the east cleared the enemy from the vital An Khe Pass, opening a possible convoy route to the imperiled highland cities.

But another major threat developed in the coastal highlands behind the South Koreans.

North Vietnamese swarmed out of the hills into coastal Binh Dinh Province. They seized one base, pushed into three populous districts and opened up with rocket and mortar fire on the district town of Bong Son. It appeared that the long-awaited assault on the district headquarters had begun.

At the Pentagon in Washington:

—Sources said the United States is preparing to send 36 more F4 fighter-bombers to Southeast Asia to strengthen the already heavy U.S. air power massed against the North Vietnamese offensive.

'Spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said South Vietnamese forces have "acquitted themselves very well" so far in the campaign.

In An Arc

The attacks on Quang Tri were described as being in an arc against South Vietnamese defenses a half-mile to a mile from the city.

Field reports said tanks were observed and at least one had been destroyed. Heavy attacks by long-range 130mm artillery, 122mm rockets and mortars also were reported. The 130mm guns have a 17-mile range.

At An Loc, the besieged provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon, North Vietnamese forces launched a ground attack against South Vietnamese paratroopers south of the city shortly after midnight. Fighting was reported still going on at dawn and the city was being shelled.

In the central highlands, the North Vietnamese are north of Highway 19, where the South Koreans are operating at An Khe pass. Should the enemy push south to Qui Nhon, the gateway to Highway 19, the newly opened convoy route would be closed again.

In past offensives, the enemy goal has been to seize the highlands and Binh Dinh Province and sever South Vietnam at its waist. This also appears to be a prime objective of the current drive.

Muskie May Halt Active Bid

©The New York Times

Washington — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie reportedly will withdraw Thursday as an acitve candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The senator from Maine decided Wednesday afternoon, according to disappointed aides, that he should pull out of the race and release delegates who are pledged to support him at the Democratic national convention.

The decision followed the unanimous recommendation of Muskie's national campaign staff that he withdraw in order to hold himself out as a possible compromise nominee at a deadlocked convention. This was seen as the only remaining route to an objective that slipped farther from Muskie's reach with each of the six state primaries.

The recommendation, based upon Muskie's poor showings in primaries Tuesday in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, was relayed to the senator at a meeting with senior staff members and close personal advisers at his home in suburban Bethesda, Md.

Muskie canceled a scheduled trip Wednesday night to Toledo, where he was to have opened a week-long attempt to revive his candidacy in the Ohio primary next Tuesday.

Volcano Erupts

Catania, Sicily (UPI) — The Etna volcano spewed black sand and a towering plume of smoke Wednesday, in a renewed show of activity that could be seen from the Ionian Sea before a bank of fog covered the mountain. Scientists said the eruption of sand and the thunder-like blasts of sound were normal activity and probably did not signal the start of a new cycle of eruptions.

SUSPECT REUNITED WITH FAMILY

Charles McSheffrey, a Long Kesh internee, is reunited with his wife, Elizabeth, and their four children in the Bogside area of Londonderry, Northern Ireland, Wednesday. Mrs. McSheffrey stopped William Whitelaw, Britain's administrator of Northern Ireland, Monday, and told him she couldn't cope with her husband being in jail. On Wednesday, Whitelaw had McSheaffrey, who had been interned six months, released along with nine other suspected Irish Republican Army members.

13 Faculty Members Sought Evans' Ouster

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Thirteen faculty members in the University of Nebraska-Lincoln agricultural economics department signed a letter last November calling for the dismissal of Assistant Prof. Bert Evans, The Lincoln Star has learned.

The letter, addressed to Agricultural Economics Chairman Glen J. Vollmar, was dated Nov. 30, 1971, nearly six months after Evans filed a list of grievances with a faculty committee charging six College of Agriculture staff members with discrimination in matters of salary, promotions and other employment considerations.

The faculty committee, known as the academic freedom and tenure committee, completed 2½ days of hearings into Evans complaints last week and is currently deliberating the issues.

Prof. Erwin Goldenstein, chairman of the committee, told The Star Wednesday that the committee did not have the letter at the time of the hearings.

"We had heard rumors of such a letter being in existence, said Goldenstein.

The thirteen faculty members — several of whom testified against Evans at the hearings — would apparently constitute slightly more than half of the faculty members in the department.

A list of staff members in the 1971-72 booklet of faculty and administrative personnel lists 25 members.

Neither Vollmar nor Prof. Everett Peterson, both of whom were named as defendants in Evans complaint, signed the letter.

It was signed by Professors Dale G. Anderson, Maurice E. Baker, Larry L. Bitney, A. W. Epp, Thomas L. Frey, James B. Hassler, Glenn A. Helmers Phillip A. Henderson, James G. Kendrick, Paul W. Lytle, Michael S. Turner, Allen C. Wellman and Paul H. Gessaman.

Hassler, Gessaman, Kendrick, Turner and Henderson were among the witnesses last week who testified on behalf of the six defendants in the case.

Other defendants, aside from Vollmar and Peterson, include E. F. Frolik, ag college dean; John L. Adams, associate dean; Edward F. Janike, dean of extension, and Howard W. Ottoson, another associate dean now on special assignment in the office of NU President D. B. Varner.

The November letter says:

"It is the judgment of the undersigned faculty mmbers of the department of agricultural economics that there has been a long-standing and continuing performance problem associated with the employment of Dr. Bert M. Evans in the department.

"Furthermore, it is our professional judgment that it is in the best interest of the Department of Agricultural Economics and the University of Nebraska that the university terminate the appointment of Dr. Evans.

Vollmar said Wednesday the letter was forwarded through university channels to then Interim Chancellor C. Peter Magrath.

Vollmar said the "only word he had was that "no action was taken.

"Ive had no reply on it, he said.

Magrath, now a vice chancellor, was named president of a New York university this week. He was out of the state Wednesday.

Goldenstein said the letter "wont be considered a part of the case brought by Evans, "in view of the fact the letter has not been forwarded (to the committee) and (since) we've not been approached about a dismissal.

He said his committee met with the six defentants last September and was told the case was "not a dismissal case.

He said that assurance was "not a guarantee that it couldnt be a dismissal consideration, but he said that "would be a separate case from the one brought by Evans.

Evans is seeking promotion to full professor, a salary increase and consideration for teaching and research assignments. He is currently a full-time extension specialist.

Evans filed his grievances with the faculty committee last June 7, but the matter did not become public knowledge until shortly before last weeks hearings.

East High Coed Merit Award Winner

Marguerite Boslaugh, a senior at Lincoln East High School has been named the winner of a National Merit $1,000 scholarship in the second of three major scholarship programs of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Miss Boslaugh, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Boslaugh of 938 Eastridge Dr., has also won first place in the Nebraska Regents Competition, and was a runner-up in the National Council of Teachers of English achievement awards.

The scholarships are nonrenewable, one-time awards providing a $1,000 grant to the winner next fall when he enrolls as a full-time student in an accredited U.S. college or university.

Marguerite Boslaugh

The Merit Scholars named Wednesday were picked from a group of 14,400 students by a committee of skilled evaluators, drawn largelly from the college admissions field. The number of winners in each state is proportional to that state's total of the nation's graduating high school seniors.

Students were considered on the basis of their high school grades, outside accomplishments, extracurricular activities, school recommendations and scores on two nationwide examinations.

Other Nebraska winners include: Philip J. Belcher, Boys Town; Karen E. Sullivan, Doniphan; Russell E. Kremer, Milford; Kurt B. Andersen, Omaha Westside; Lawrence Denenberg, Omaha Central; Joan M. Saniuk, Omaha Mercy; and Michael E. Cain, Papillion.

20,000 Troops To Come Home

. . . 'We Will Not Be Defeated'

Washington (AP) — President Nixon said Wednesday night he is withdrawing another 20,000 American troops from Vietnam by July 1.

But he vowed to continue U.S. air and naval attacks on North Vietnam until it ends its "naked and unprovoked . . . invasion" of the South.

"We will not be defeated," Nixon declared in a nationally broadcast report to the nation, "and we will never surrender our friends to Communist aggression."

'Firm Expectation'

The chief executive said the United States is returning to the Paris peace talks Thursday with the aim of halting the month-old invasion and "with the firm expectation that productive talks leading to rapid progress will follow through all available channels."

The President spoke shortly after dispatches from Saigon told of a renewed North Vietnamese drive against the city of Quang Tri south of the demilitarized zone, and while the fate of much of the Central Highlands of South Vietnam remained uncertain under heavy offensive pressure.

As he announced over radio and television that U.S. troop levels would be cut in the next two months to 49,000—or 500,000 below the level when he took office three years ago—Nixon solicited public support for his determination to "be steadfast . . . not falter."

He said: "The Communists have failed . . . Their one remaining hope is to win in the Congress of the United States, and among the people of the United States the victory they cannot win among the people of South Vietnam or on the battlefield in South Vietnam."

The speech, delivered in stern tones as he sat behind his desk in his Oval Office, was his first report to the American people on the war since the enemy thrust led him to renew bombing of North Vietnam, including air attacks near Hanoi and Haiphong.

'Notable Actions'

Shortly before Nixon's address, his chief foreign-affairs adviser, Henry Kissinger, briefed newsmen at the White House and, while declining to talk about specific private negotiating, said, "Notable diplomatic actions are going on . . ."

He said the chief Communist negotiator, Le Dic Tho, is returning to Paris and added, "he doesn't return for trivial reasons."

Kissinger while reluctant to talk about the U.S. negotiating posture, said the administration feels that the North Vietnamese troops "should abide by the 1968 agreement which led to cesation of U.S. bombing of the North.

'Gut Issues Understood'

"The gut issues are clearly understood" by the Communist negotiators in Paris, Kissinger said, and "we should be able to learn very rapidly whether progress can be made."

While Nixon said that South Vietnam still needs air and sea support, he added that his Vietnamization program of training and equipping the Saigon government's army "has proved itself sufficiently that we can continue our program of withdrawing American forces . . .

"The South Vietnamese are fighting courageously and well in their self defense and . . . have made great progress and are now bearing the brunt of the battle. We can now see the day when no more Americans will be involved there at all."

Nixon's three decisions-continued withdrawal, a return to the Paris peace talks, and continued air and naval attacks on North Vietnamese military targets-could have a major impact on the domestic election-year political scene as well as on international relations.

Yorty Raps McGovern As 'Spokesman Of Radical Left'

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles Wednesday characterized South Dakota Sen. George McGovern as ,,the authentic spokesman of the radical left.

If McGovern were to gain the Democratic presidential nomination, Yorty told newsmen in Lincoln, Democrats would abandon their party in droves.

Although he declined to publicly state his own intentions in such an event, Yorty's comments indicated that he too might take a political walk in November.

Hes done it before . . . supporting Richard Nixon against John Kennedy in the 1960 presidential race, and again in Nixon's 1962 gubernatorial contest with California Gov. Pat Brown.

Yorty, a candidate in Nebraska's May 9 Democratic presidential primary contest, said midwestern Democrats will "desert the party . . . if it keeps going to the left.

"Theyre not about to support radical candidates.

McGovern, the mayor said, "sounds more like Hanoi when he discusses the war. Yorty also scored the senators views on amnesty and drugs.

While he targeted the bulk of his criticism at McGovern, Yorty said "most of the other senators (in the Democratic presidential derby) appease the left wing element.

Although Sen. Hubert Humphrey has "offended less people, the mayor said, "he is trying to talk on all sides . . . and I'm afraid he couldn't be elected.

Sen. Edmund Muskie is "definitely out of it" Yorty said, and Sen. Henry Jackson is becoming just another politician."

Alabama Gov. George Wallaces "rather impressive" second place finish in Tuesdays Pennsylvania primary election should be a "signal to the Democrats that voters do not approve "their appeasement of the left wing," the mayor said.

Nebraska voters can help "save the party" with their primary ballots next month, he said.

Yorty completed a three-day tour of his native state Wednesday, campaigning in 14 communities despite missing five scheduled stops as a result of Wednesdays heavy rains and a ground accident in Columbus which damaged his airplane.

But hell be back May 5, the mayor said, and he hopes to complete his scheduled visits to Holdrege, York, Beatrice, Falls City and Nebraska City.

"People here have been so marvelous, Yorty said at his final stop in Lincoln.

"Gosh, what a change from New Hampshire."

Nebraska is the only primary state in which Yorty is campaigning between the March contest in New Hampshire and California's big showdown in June.

"If I can do well in Nebraska, I might have a very good chance to lead the Democratic delegation from California," he said.

Much of his problem, he said, is that "the eastern liberal press acts like I'm a non-person.

Yorty said he is pleased that the President decided to expand the bombing of North Vietnam, "a course which I recommended.

"Now that he's broken the ice, I hope he continues the pressure, that he won't let this be a one-shot deal. The areas near Haiphong and Hanoi should be hit again.

Pulling a note from his pocket with a Washington telephone number on it, Yorty said the President asked the mayor to call him after his Wednesday night television speech to discuss Vietnam policy.

"I haven't been wrong once about Vietnam, Yorty said.

Nixon Given Confused View

World News

Washington (AP) — Administration experts gave President Nixon a generally confused view in 1969 of the over-all effectiveness of B52 raids against North Vietnam, a secret government study shows.

The State Department, for instance, made this assessment in its part of the study:

"There is little evidence to suggests that these (B52) missions have succeeded in inflicting a scale of losses on the VC-NVA sufficient to significantly disrupt tactical operations or to force the Communists to alter their basic strategy for South Vietnam."

Yet, as part of the same study, Secretary of State William P. Rogers approved a comment that read "there is considerable evidence . . . to support out contention that both these problems morale and manpower losses from the bombing) were serious ones for the DRV and were significant considerations in Hanoi's decision to come to Paris."

The B52 assessment is one of 28 broad issues covered in the study, termed National Security Study Memorandum 1, and put together by presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

Although the study remains classified secret, copies have been obtained by several publications. The Associated Press obtained its copy by requesting one from syndicated columnist Jack Anderson.

Since the study surfaced this week, Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, has tried to draw a parallel between the present raids against the North and the dour 1969 assessments of similar tactics.

The administration has answered that the current Vietnam situation can't be compared aptly to 1969, when Hanoi fought more of a small-scale, guerrilla war.

The confused nature of the B52 situation three years ago also came through clearly in the summary to the study prepared for Nixon by Kissinger. It read:

"All agencies acknowledge that sound analysis of the effectiveness of B52 strikes is currently impossible for several reasons.

"The consensus is that some strikes are very effective, some clearly wasted and a majority with indeterminate outcome."

The Central Intelligence Agency said the B52 raids "do account for a substantial number of casualties, have effectively disrupted VC-NVA operations and have a strong adverse psychological impact on enemy troops."

But at the same time, the CIA acknowledged there was no way to say how much in terms of manpower and equipment was actually hurt by the B52s.

The most positive assessment of the impact of the big bombers came from the military contributors to the study.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff said B52s killed 41,000 enemy in 1968. However, civilian intelligence experts in the Pentagon put the figure as low as 9,000.

The Defense Department also disagreed with the military advisers, who contended the B52s compared in effectiveness to close-support strikes against infiltration routes.

In regard to bombing of the North by all types of planes, as well as B52s, the various contributors generally were less than positive about the effect of the raids.

The State Department said the "U.S. bombing was a matter of concern to the North. (But) what did become clear during the course of the bombing was that the North Vietnamese have not been paralyzed.

"Hanoi found a variety of ways to minimize and adapt to the strains of the bombing. Foreign aid was perhaps the most important single element in this adaptation, but the striking tenacity of the North Vietnamese leadership and the disciplined if fatalistic response of the North Vietnamese people were of nearly equal importance."

While not accepted by all the military contributors, the State Department's theme generally was followed by the other civilian agencies.

Apollo Crew Holds News Conference

Space Center, Houston (AP) Apollo 16 streaks toward a splashdown in the South Pacific Thursday, its commander proclaiming: "We've seen as much in 10 days as most people see in 10 lifetimes."

Astronauts John W. Young, Charles M. Duke Jr. and Thomas K. Mattingly II, aboard their command ship Casper, will parachute to Earth at 1:44 p.m. CST, 178 miles southeast of Christmas Island.

The prime recovery ship, aircraft carrier Ticonderoga, is cruising in the splashdown zone. Weather forecasts for the area — which is just south of the equator — call for gentle seas, light winds, balmy temperatures and almost unlimited visibility.

Descartes Said It

In a press conference held in space Wednesday as the astronauts hurtled toward their home planet, Young said, "Mr. Descartes said it. 'Nothing is so far removed from us as to be beyond our reach, or so hidden that we cannot discover it.'" He referred to 16th-Century French philosopher Rene Descartes for whom the moon mountains where Apollo 16 landed were named.

"That is really the story of our mission so far," the astronaut added. "We have been out testing this theory. Our personal assessment of where we are right now. As soon as we get the rocks back, we'll be making headway toward proving he was right."

"We worked hard," said Young, "but we got all the support in the world from MCC (Mission Control Center), Houston." He said, too, there were "lots of work and wheels turning and people working to solve our problems."

Mattingly and Duke both reported seeing formations which could have resulted from volcanoes on the moon.

Volcanic Source

One formation, said Duke, "had the shape of very subdued old cinder cones or something of that nature. To us, it looked like it might have been a source for some volcanic activity way, way back."

Mattingly said, "We saw a big hole in the side of the wall of this crater, and it appeared that there was material oozing out." He did not elaborate but he meant oozing out in the past, not presently, an official said.

Before the press conference an alarm light flashed in the ship's guidance and navigation system but it proved to be only a stray electronic impulse and Mission Control said later "the hardware has a clean bill of health."

Secret Talks Probable

Paris (AP) — The United States will go back to the Vietnam peace table Thursday—presumably because of a Communist pledge of parallel secret talks.

Informations indicated Wednesday that a deal for secret talks apparently enabled the United States to swallow its previous statements it would not return to the semipublic sessions while the enemy offensive in South Vietnam was in progress.

Washington has long argued that secret talks, away from the glare of publicity, offer the best possibility for a solution of the Vietnamese conflict. The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have insisted that the regular semipublic sessions of the talks continue.

A semipublic plenary session of the conference, demanded for Thursday was accepted by the United States and South Vietnam Tuesday, without any publicly stated conditions.

Diplomatic informant said "things of interest not occurring on the surface" would also be happening—an obvious reference to secret talks.

Kleindienst Faces More Questioning

Washington (AP) —The Senate Judiciary Committee voted 9 to 5 Wednesday to recall Richard G. Kleindienst and ask the nominee for attorney general about differing statements regarding the ITT Corp. antitrust settlement.

The committee extended an earlier hearing deadline by one day as it agreed to send the full Senate its recommendation on the nomination by late Thursday.

At the same time, Republican committee members with some Democratic help beat back attempts by liberals to further extend the hearings and call still more witnesses, including presidential aide Peter M. Flanigan.

East, West Germany In Accord

Berlin (UPI) — East and West Germany reached an agreement on road, rail and canal traffic between the two nations Wednesday night and immediately afterward East Germany said restrictions on travel through the Berlin Wall would be relaxed and some East Germans could visit West Germany for the first time in 11 years.

The East German statement also said West Germans would be allowed to visit East Germany more freely than at present.

The travel agreement was announced on the eve of a crucial vote of confidence in the Bonn parliament that could topple the government of West German Chancellor Willy Brandt.

The East German measures to relax restrictions on travel through the wall were not part of the East-West German treaty but unilateral actions taken by the East German government.

Lincoln General's Trustees Considering Room Rate Hike

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

The Board of Trustees of Lincoln General Hospital said Wednesday it is considering instituting room rate increases of slightly less than 6%.

If adopted, the new rates could become effective as early as June 1. Any such hike would constitute the first increases in the hospital's patient room charges since February 1971.

In other matters at a morning meeting, the board was told that Assistant Administrator Dave Henry has resigned his position, effective Friday, to become an associate administrator of St. Elizabeth Community Health Center.

Henry's duties are to be assumed by expanding the responsibilities of two administrative assistants and of Lincoln General's chief administrator, Robert Brungard.

Rate Hike Soon?

The possibility of a room rate increase yet this fiscal year was a topic of discussion at the meeting after a review of the hospital's financial condition.

The board had previously said it anticipated a rate increase this calendar year, but it said it hoped to hold off until the start of Fiscal Year 1973 beginning in September.

Brungard told the board, however, that the hospital has a $95,000 operational deficit for the current fiscal year.

And he said the only way to increase revenue is to increase charges to patients.

Personnel Ratio Dips

He noted the hospital has made successful efforts to control its personnel ratio, a rate that, in terms of employes per occupied bed, dropped in March to the lowest rate in some time.

Cost accounting and program budgeting procedures have been either instituted or begun, said Brungard, who also noted that hospital costs generally have been going up at the rate of 15% a year.

"The cost of doing business is not being covered by the revenues," he said.

Lincoln General's budget is set on a break-even philosophy, so the hospital expects its month-to-month balance to show little on the plus side.

To Ponder Hikes In May

The board said it would probably consider action on specific rate increases at a May meeting.

The board's goal has been to keep itself free of any city tax subsidy.

In personnel matters, Brungard said two current administrative assistants — Larry C. Renneker and Dennis L. Siefford — will be promoted to assistant administrators with expanded responsibilities to assume Henry's duties.

Renneker will be in charge of hospital support services, while Siefford will head the administrative services division.

The trustees were also told that Mrs. Leo Hill will assume the presidency of the hospital auxiliary in June.

Lincoln Woman Dies In Crash In Tennessee

Jellico, Tenn. (AP) — Two women were killed Tuesday in a collision on Interstate 75 about eight miles south of here.

State troopers identified the victims as Maude Bradley, 86, of Mayville, N.Y., and Linda K. Price, 21, of 2525 Q St., Lincoln.

Trooper Harry Cureton said the accident occurred on a section of the highway where traffic moves both north and south. A five-mile stretch of the northbound lane of Interstate 75 has been closed because of landslides caused by recent heavy rains in the area.

Humphrey, McGovern Win Primaries

By The Associated Press

Sen. George S. McGovern, propelled by a Massachusetts landslide, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, contending he had won "a decisive battle" for the Democratic center in Pennsylvania, carried the marathon presidential campaign to Ohio Wednesday.

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama said his second-place finish in Pennsylvania indicated he has "a better chance to be the nominee than ever before."

Wallace confronts Humphrey next Tuesday in the Indiana primary, while the Minnesota senator, McGovern, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington compete at the same time for Ohio's 153 delegate votes.

Clear Majority

McGovern emerged from Massachusetts with a clear majority, 52% of the vote in a 12-name primary, and with 102-first-ballot nominating votes at the Democratic National Convention.

The South Dakota senator picked up a surprise bonus in Pennsylvania, where he ran fourth in the presidential preference vote but nonetheless gained 37 more convention delegates.

Humphrey won the Pennsylvania primary with 35% of the vote, and led the others in the separate delegate competition, winning 57.

That made Muskie a loser at his own game, for he had concentrated his campaign effort on Pennsylvania and, specifically, on the delegate competition. He picked up only 29 delegates.

Wallace won two Pennsylvania delegates, and 12 were uncommitted to any candidate.

Tuesday's balloting sent McGovern into the national lead in committed delegated votes for the first ballot at the Democratic National Convention.

He emerged with a total of 234½ delegates, sweeping past Muskie, who wound up with 128½. Humphrey's delegate count after the Tuesday balloting was 81, Wallace had 77.

President Nixon walked away with the Republican preference vote in Massachusetts, gaining 82% over two GOP congressmen.

One of them, Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California, had asked for GOP ballots to protest Nixon's renewal of the bombing of North Vietnam. He was getting 14%.

There was no Republican contest in Pennsylvania.

John N. Mitchell, the former attorney general now managing Nixon's re-election campaign, said the Massachusetts primary indicates that McGovern "has the active, if still undeclared support" of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Isn't Sure

He said Kennedy's failure to endorse McGovern may mean he isn't sure the South Dakota senator can win the nomination.

"If this is the case, his past and present support may only foreshadow the emergence of a more personal goal between now and the time the Democrats gather at Miami Beach," Mitchell said.

With 99% of the Pennsylvania precincts counted, this was the situation:

Humphrey 475,633 or 35%.
Wallace 287,998 or 21%.
McGovern 277,050 or 21%.
Muskie 276,464 or 20%.
Jackson 39,507 or 3%.

The preference vote did not bind the delegates, 137 of the 182 vote delegation, who were elected on a district basis.

The count in that competition:

Humphrey 57.
McGovern 37.
Muskie 29.
Wallace 2.
Uncommitted 12.

Massachusetts lined up this way with 85% of the precincts tallied:

McGovern 255,123 or 52%.
Muskie 190,551 or 22%.
Humphrey 38,505 or 8%.
Wallace 36,465 or 8%.
Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York 18,143 or 4%.
Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas 15,021 or 3%.

The balance of the field scattered the rest, with Kennedy picking up close to 2,000 write-in votes.

Rev. Hugo Flaig Installed As Moderator For Church

Lincoln Star Special

Scottsbluff — The Rev. Hugo Flaig of Hastings was installed as moderator of the Nebraska Conference of the United Church of Christ during the group's annual meeting in Scottsbluff.

Georgena Kuzmas of Hastings was chosen assistant moderator; the Rev. Verne Spindell of Lincoln, secretary, and Charles Velte of Fremont, chairman of the board of directors.

During the meeting a voluntary peace vigil was held expressing concern over the Vietnam War.

In other action, delegates voted to underwrite a 15-month experimental ministry that would employ up to four mature young persons to work with local churches and clusters of churches in their own settings in the strengthening of their youth ministry.

Also approved was an amended structure for the carrying on of the work of the Nebraska Conference, moving away from the more rigid structure of commissions and into the direction of planning groups and task forces.

The Rev. David J. Jamieson was installed as minister of the Nebraska Conference.

Inmates Urge 'Random' Selection

Black inmates should be selected "at random" rather than be "handpicked" for the integration of the Nebraska Penitentiary's east cell block, U.S. District Judge Warren Urbom was told Wednesday.

This proposal was made in a brief filed by the two plaintiff inmates in the integration case in objection to the plan proposed by Penal Complex Warden Charles Wolff Jr.

Last month, the Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld an order by Judge Urbom for the integration of the 50-man "whites only" east cell block.

Judge Urbom has scheduled a May 1 hearing on the prison administration's proposed plan which would select "suitable" black inmates for placement in the east cell block through the Sub-Classification Committee.

Through their attorney, Richard L. Schmeling of Lincoln, the plaintiff inmates, Charles McClelland and Curtis Rowland, allege that the administration's plan for selection of "suitable" blacks may doom the integration plan to failure.

It is alleged that "passive individuals" who back away from strife and trouble may be chosen by the selection committee as a "suitable" group for integration.

However, the plaintiffs contend this "suitable" group would not be able to "withstand the subtle pressures and overt threats of the redneck white inmates" in the east cell block.

Selection of black inmates by lottery would result in a better cross-section of the black prison population for the integration test because "more suitable" inmates as well as "less suitable" inmates would be picked at random.

LBJ Goes Home

San Antonio, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson was released from Brooke Army General Hospital Wednesday afternoon and flown to his ranch, the hospital announced.

Johnson was flown to the hospital here April 12 after suffering what doctors called a serious heart attack in Charlottesville, Va., April 7.

Schwartzkopf Confirms City Studying Boost In Sales Tax

Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf confirmed Wednesday that raising of the city's sale tax from a half of one percent to a full one percent is "under study."

Although Mayor Schwartzkopf said he was not ready to make a decision right now the studies will be completed in time for deliberations on the city's budget for the next fiscal year.

Work on the budget begins in June and July for the new fiscal year starting Sept. 1st.

He added that the property tax is "about as high as it can go."

Under state law, cities may use the sales tax as a source of revenue on a local option basis. Omaha also uses a sales tax system and levies the full one percent the law allows.

An unsuccessful move was made during this year's legislative session to revoke the right of cities to levy a sales tax. Supporters of the move contended that the sales tax should be limited to state government only.

Jurgens To Head Dentists Society

Omaha (AP) — Dr. Roger Jurgens of Kearney was selected as the president-elect of the Nebraska Society of Dentistry for Children.

Dr. Gene Osborn of Central City was installed as president for the coming year.

Dr. Robert Hinrichs of Lincoln was elected secretary-treasurer.

EVENTS IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Next week Ohio and soon thereafter Nebraska. What will be left for Nebraskans to decide on their May 9 primary date from among the stable of Democratic hopefuls seeking their party's nomination for the presidency?

Well, as unimportant as Nebraska would seem to be with a mere handful of 22 delegates, the state's Democratic voters could inject a new dimension into the presidential race. That new dimension could be in the person of Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington state.

On the ballot for Nebraska Democrats will be 11 presidential candidates but the contest is coming down to four — Jackson, Sen. George McGovern, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty. Nebraska is one of the few states in which Jackson is putting on a strong campaign.

Thus, the Washington senator has picked Nebraska as one point of decision along the way. We have a growing feeling that it is McGovern who he will have to beat.

Humphrey and McGovern shared the winner's circle in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts but McGovern won a big bloc of delegates in sewing up the latter state. Humphrey won a popularity contest in the former but precious few delegates and remains a long way back in the pack in that regards.

Humphrey still could emerge as a top contender but his tag as the "happy warrior" continues to plague him. In that tag you sense the feeling of people, right or wrong, that Humphrey offers them nothing new or different, no real choice from President Nixon.

That may not be true, certainly is not entirely true, but the reality of politics and truth are not always the same thing. Both Jackson and McGovern offer more of a contrast in the eyes of the electorate. Jackson, however, remains relatively unknown and McGovern is making inroads that are beginning to stamp him as a potential winner.

★

McGovern has parlayed his liberalism, his personal charm and his low keyed approach into votes in one primary after another. He has capitalized upon the unrest in the nation and the discontent over Vietnam.

The problem for Jackson will be to get enough people familiar with him to cast their ballot for him. If he could gain that familiarity in Nebraska he would likely find the ballots coming his way.

If that happens, it could be the spark to ignite the Jackson candidacy. Jackson would have to win on a platfor of moderation because this, it seems, is his trademark. He is described as a domestic liberal and a foreign policy conservative and this is not a bad description, although such categorizing seldom does anyone justice.

McGovern, in the general election against Nixon, would have a problem of confidence which might be clearly seen through the eyes of Nebraska voters. Does he represent what the people want or is his approach too drastic for the average man?

★

Jackson would not have that problem and fits closely, it seems, the Nebraska mold. His attitude toward government includes a strong federal role where he deems this essential but tempered with an overriding faith in local control and disenchantment with federal bureacracy.

He is strong on environmental control but not to the freakish point where he considers economic growth and responsible business and industry as the enemies of civilization. His greatest contrast with McGovern, of course, is in the area of foreign policy.

He has not denounced the war in Vietnam; he believes in a strong defense as the best deterrent to war and is opposed to a general amnesty for draft evaders. All down the line, Jackson represents the kind of progressive but reasoned voice that seems to characterize the people of Nebraska.

And the people of Nebraska are not exactly outcasts in the nation. Thus, the Nebraska primary still looms as important in the presidential sweepstakes and could be decisive.

MARIANNE MEANS

McGovern, HHH Upset The Rules

WASHINGTON — Sens. George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey are upsetting the rules by which the old Vice Presidency game is traditionally played.

Both Demoratic Presidential candidates have taken the unprecedented step of making public their first choice for running mate, although the convention is still three months way.

McGovern said he would like to run with Florida Gov. Reubin Askew. Humphrey promised to try to persuade Sen. Edward Kennedy to join him as Vice Presidential nominee.

(Sen. Edmund Muskie has given no public clue as to his choice for second spot, although Minnesota Sen. Walter Mondale is the favorite of many of Muskie's advisers. Gov. George Wallace and Sen. Henry Jackson also continue to play the customary guessing game.)

☆ ☆ ☆

McGovern and Humphrey have powerful reasons for their departure from normal political procedure. They each hope to broaden their voter appeal by running in tandem with another public figure who is strong where they are weak.

A major McGovern weakness is that he is not a truly national candidate — he is considered too liberal to carry a single Southern state. A McGoven-Askew ticket seems sensibly balanced to correct that deficiency. Askew is one of the most promising young political stars to emerge from the South, and he will get national exposure — and presumably a degree of voter recognition — in his role as keynoter of the convention.

It is debatable how much help Askew would actually be to McGovern outside of Florida, particularly since Askew recently campaigned vigorously on behalf of busing for school integration. But the mere promise of a Southern presence on the ticket might quiet the fears of some conservatives who view McGovern as dangerously radical.

Humphrey for his part, is having a terrible time persuading young people, the Eastern intellectual community, and liberals that he is not too old and tired for leadership in the 1970's. By linking his name with Kennedy's he hopes to share in the aura of youth, glamour and future potential that are associated with the Kennedy family, in addition, Kennedy's position as the third most popular Democrat on the public opinion polls makes him an obvious asset.

It is doubtful that Kennedy would accept Humphrey's offer for second spot, considering his repeated denials of interest in the job. But Humphrey may be able to soften the opposition from some former Kennedy supporters by indicating his willingness to cooperate with their wing of the party.

☆ ☆ ☆

McGovern and Humphrey have calculated that the potential gains of their Vice Presidential gambit outweigh the potential liabilities. By revealing their second-spot favorites so far in advance, both men have voluntarily limited their flexibility to maneuver in the collection of delegates.

The Vice Presidency is increasingly regarded as a crucial post too important to be brokered away by a handful of men without public say-so. By opening up the Vice Presidency for public consideration, even as merely a sideshow of their own Presidential candidacies, Humphrey and McGovern are moving in the right direction.

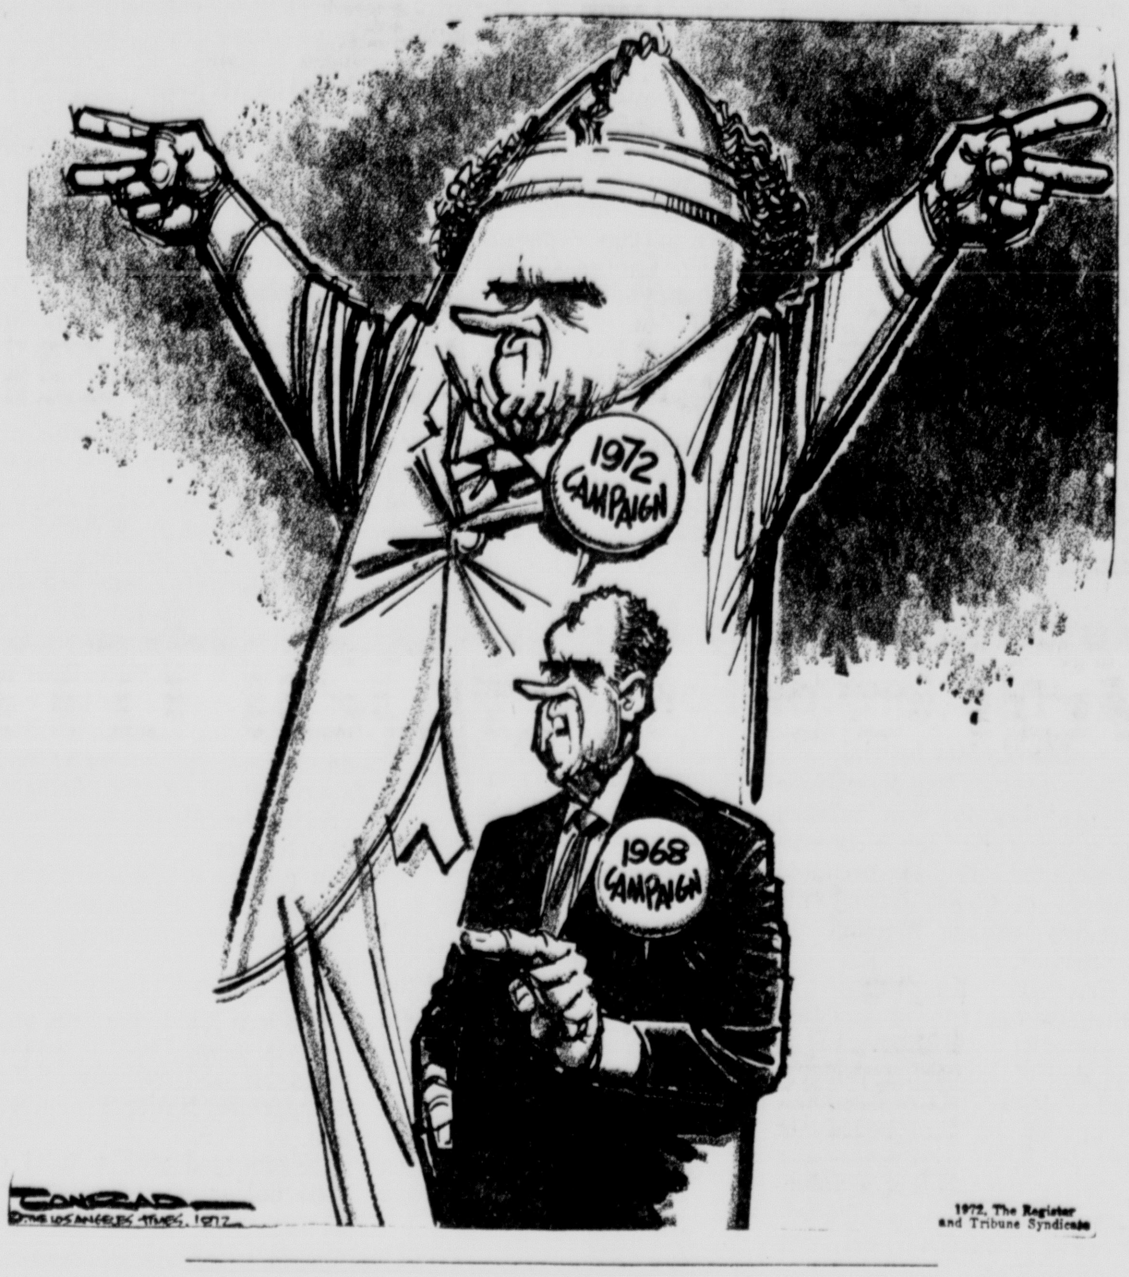
'If In November This War Is Not Over, The American People Will Be Justified In Electing New Leadership!'



1972, The Register and Tribune Syndicate

Something, Perhaps, For Everyone

One might well wish that the new settlement of the Title I funds program in Lincoln is a prelude to a more cordial future in all relationships between private and public education. We simply cannot believe that this nation, this state and this community have to make a choice between the two, that there ultimately can be one but not the other.

The agreement by the Lincoln Board of Education, recommended by Superintendent John Prasch, calls for special education classes by public school personnel in the private schools. It will come under the so-called leased classroom approach recently declared legal by the State Supreme Court.

It means special or remedial education programs will now be available to students in private as well as public schools. We have no doubts that some will denounce this program, both on its own merits and as a precedent for future private school aid.

But the rhetoric on this subject has been too strong, attitudes too firm, opinions too quickly formed and judgments too rapidly made. Perhaps this program will demonstrate that there is a way for the public and private system to get along with equality and opportunity for both and for the greater benefit of all the children involved.

Neither school system need be a threat to the other but can serve to complement one another and to offer a healthy spirit of competition. The private school system most surely will be sacrificed if some accomodation in the area of public fund support is not ultimately forthcoming.

That the consequences of such funding are more dire than the salvation of the private school system is an alarmist state of mind with which we simply cannot concur. There are a multitude of practical reasons supporting the thesis that the public system will remain strong, healthy and growing even with a partially public funded private system. And the same thing belies fears that the private system represents a bottomless pit into which public funds might be shoveled without control.

This is a hope that the Lincoln agreement encourages more future reason where too much extremism has existed in the past.

Strong-Arm Tactic Works

In 1968, National Guard jet aircraft crashed on the properties of two farm families in Iowa. The Marie Tjernagels of Story City claimed damages of $130,000 and the Emma McCarvilles of Cresco claimed damages of $86,000. Tuesday, four years later, the federal government assured the two families they would receive full compensation for their losses.

Mrs. Tjernagel, for one, said she would not believe she was being paid until the check is in her hand. But at least she was promised payment, and for his part in it, Iowa Gov. Robert Ray deserves much of the credit. He acted like governors should act.

Ray took less drastic steps at first in trying to settle the dispute, requesting Iowa Sens. Jack Miller and Harold Hughes to propose legislation providing for payment and dispatching Iowa Ombudsman Larry Carstensen to Washington to work on the problem. These efforts failed, however.

Ray then issued an executive order that went into effect at noon Monday which immobilized the Air and Army National Guards in Iowa. Tuesday the federal government capitulated and promised payment. "The drastic action was needed to aid the families," explained Ray, "and it proved that the federal government cannot kick around these people and get away with it." Ray said that in the future action to secure settlement in such cases "will be more promptly done," so that no other Iowan has to "suffer for four years without compensation." It is pretty well established now, Ray said, "that the people responsible must pay . . ."

A governor shouldnt take the drastic step of grounding the national guard every time a citizen has a grievance with the government. But in this case, it appears that all reasonable efforts to achieve satisfaction failed. The bureaucracy needed a shaking up and if several miles of red tape were snipped in the process, so much the better.

Mood Of Doubt Hangs In Western Europe As NATO Allies Ponder Future U.S. Policy

PARIS — Hints of instability shown in the first round of Western Europe's critical spring tests — surprisingly weak assertion of French President Pompidou's prestige and a dangerous slippage of Chancellor Brandt's position in the German Federal Republic — should remind President Nixon when he goes to Moscow that the NATO area hangs on the results of his trip.

☆ ☆ ☆

"What Washington has failed to do . . . is to make clear what kind of international system it wishes to promote and what role it expects to play in it," writes Curt Gasteyger, the Swiss international lawyer who is deputy director of the Atlantic Institute, a private organization deeply concerned with relationships between North America and Western Europe.

"American policy has become less predictable . . . does this mean a return from superpower status to that of a traditional rank-and-file great power with wide but limited commitments? . . . we are probably all too much under the effect of the American fiasco in Vietnam, the recent dollar crisis and the defeat in the United Nations over Taiwan . . .

"Unless the United States adjusts and revises its highly conservative commercial policy toward the Comecon (Soviet bloc) counties it is to be feared it will come into conflict with the very active Ostpolitik of E.E.C. (Common Market) businessmen . . . it was inevitable that in the age of global nuclear confrontation Europe's position would be different from that of the early postwar years when the United States was practically invulnerable to Soviet attack.

"Once this was no more the case and the deterrence had become mutual, Europeans began to doubt the credibility of American protection and the plausibility of Soviet aggressiveness. The changes and reversals in America strategic doctrines — from massive retaliation to limited war, from arms control to flexible response, and from crisis management to controlled escalation — were too frequent and rapid to make any of them particularly convincing."

☆ ☆ ☆

Gasteyger worries: "There are at least two major politico-strategic consequences with which an application of the Nixon Doctrine to Europe (and other parts of the world), i.e., a reduction of American overseas commitments, must reckon: first, an increased probability of nuclear proliferation, second a shift in the over-all balance of power with likely repercussions on the political orientation of various countries and regions . . .

"The present administration's intention to reduce overseas commitments and place greater emphasis on national or regional defense efforts must inevitably conflict with its . . . dislike of independent nuclear forces in general, a French and, a fortiori, a European nuclear force in particular.

"In an age in which the atomic bomb is still the supreme weapon, it is difficult to see how one can deny its possession to allies while at the same time either reducing the security guarantees for their protection of exhorting them to look after themselves — or both."

☆ ☆ ☆

Using Gasteyger's analysis as a text, one may conjecture that a mood of doubt contributed to weakening both the French and West German governing coalitions as indicated the past weekend. Certainly confidence in Pompidou and his swerve to reliance on a stronger Common Market was not exhuberantly experessed. Brandt simultaneously lost the last millimeter of advantage in applying the same logic to easing relationships with Communist East Europe.

One can draw no definitive conclusions and the seriousness of such trends until, in a few days, the Italian elections and the West German parliamentary test of Brandt's policy have been judged. Nevertheless, the United States has been plainly warned—if in differing ways—by the French and German voters.

The warning seems to imply that without more dynamic U.S. leadership, the alliance area we acknowledge as of paramount importance may begin to disintegrate.

The Democratic process signals advance changes in national mood. It is possible this is the real significance of the two pilot tests—first in a series scheduled for Western Europe on the eve of Nixon's crucial Moscow journey.

One thing is already underscored: in any rearrangement of the global power balance, the people of the NATO area intend to be heard. They have already reminded Washington that they could shoot off on unexpected tangents if their aspirations are not heeded or if they feel they can no longer rely on our understanding and protection.

Patchwork Prairie Country

Sitting on the table beside me is a big billowy bouquet of wild plum blossoms. With every breath of spring that their sweet fragrance showers on me, I associate the scent with school days. Each spring many wild thickets of plum burst into clouds of delicate bloom along the country roads we walked. Going home after school was such a leisurely walk . . . no bell to ring and worry us to hurry lest we be late, so we ambled along swinging our dinner pails and talking.

As an excuse to get out of the late afternoon sun, we paused at the first clump of plum thickets and sniffed the biggest sniff of delightful fragrance that was imaginable. Perhaps an extra cookie or apple was left over from lunch in our dinner pails. This provided a picnic atmosphere and a moment for easy talk and laughter. Then on to the next cloud bank of plum blossoms with its airy perfume to lure us like bees to a newfound clover field.

Back, back through the years I suppose it will be for me whenever I see wild plum blossoms tossing in a mild spring breeze. The familiar scent is enough to send me into a frenzy of exciting remembrances.

Another delicious aroma that always sends my mind skittering back in memory is lemonade. Whenever I get a whiff of the tart lemony smell, I think of threshing time on the farm many years ago when I was a girl.

At lunch time it was my task to squeeze the lemons, add the sugar and water and lastly the chunks of ice for the thirsty crew of workers. The kitchen was filled with a bustle of making sandwiches, cutting cake, adding cookies and cooking coffee for the baskets of lunch to be taken out to the threshing crew. Coffee was always poured first for it seemed the seasoned workers knew too much cold lemonade first was not good when one was hot and tired.

After the coffee and lunch, the lemonade would disappear to quench the thirst. The clinking sound of the ice in the glasses was enough to cool the body and make the remainder of the day a bit easier.

After the threshing crew had been fed, Mom and my sister and I would have our own lunch in the big country kitchen where the smell of lemonade seemed extra pungent and good.

I have a delightful new neighbor outside my picture window. It was quite by accident that I looked out into the juniper tree and saw a robin nesting in one of the branches.

I am quite pleased that the pair of robins chose a tree so close to the house. I always find them to be so interesting to watch. They are the kind of neighbors I like. I know they will not spread gossip from one household to another. They will tend to their own business without being busy-bodies. They will not arouse suspicion among the dwellers of this area should they see the man of the house come in at a late hour. When they do choose to verbalize, it will be with a song in their heart . . . a light cheery song that will make the whole world seem full of joy.

When evening comes, they will quietly echo vespers tilting from their secluded perch outside my window . . . a peaceful pause in the cool of the evening . . . a wisp of gossamer strands of notes upon which dreams are built.

There is one thing I dislike and that is wind. Whether it buffets the snow about in winter or blows across the fields in spring, wind is all the same to me . . . something to be tolerated while ranting about its rudeness. It sends billows of dirt blowing from the fields before a proper cover of green plants can take root, it breaks the boughs of trees, it piles the tumbleweeds against the fence rows, whips the clothes on the line and flares the temper.

Though we have wind every spring, I never find the words to speak gently of the wind.

JAMES RESTON

Kissinger Astonishing In Difficult Role

NEW YORK—Henry Kissinger has got beyond the news. He is like most of the men of power in Washington: He is going to be left to the psychological novelists.

It is easy to criticize the role President Nixon has given him as principal foreign policy adviser, negotiator, and private spokesman in the White House, but leaving that aside for a moment, it is hard to deny Kissinger's obvious intelligence, unfailing discretion, and ceaseless energy.

His latest secret trip to Moscow, following on his quiet and meticulous preparation of the President's mission to Peking, is only the most dramatic illustration of the confidence and power Nixon has entrusted to him. And it is a tribute to them both that this confidential relationship endures despite Kissinger's insistence on expressing his independent judgments, even when these go against the President's inclinations and decisions.

Just before the White House announced that Kissinger had been conferring for four days with Brezhnev and Gromyko in Moscow, Rep. Morris K. Udall, Democrat of Arizona, made a report to the House Civil Service Committee in which he accused Nixon of building up a "palace guard" of White House advisers who shape national policy without having to answer to either the Congress or the American people.

Well, it is true, and it is hard to deny, as Udall charged, that this growing system of private unaccountable power, protected by "executive privilege," goes against the spirit of separate and equal constitutional powers. Even Kissinger, who grappled with such questions as a professor at Harvard, would agree that this is a valid constitutional question.

But there are human as well as constitutional questions involved here, and given the President's assignment, which would go to somebody else if not to Kissinger, Kissinger's performance is beyond anything any other White House aide, from Roosevelt's Hopkins to Kennedy's Bundy or Johnson's Rostow, has been asked to sustain.

To master the details and complexities of the President's agenda in Peking and Moscow, to keep the summit meetings alive while American troops are in Taiwan and American bombers are over North Vietnam, to keep the fundamental differences straight and still find areas for agreement and common interest — all this is hard enough.

But Kissinger has taken on other responsibilities almost as delicate and arduous. Somehow he has managed to keep a narrow line of communication open to the President's critics in the Universities, the Congress and the press.

And this has not been easy. He has been scalded and villified by many of his former university colleagues and even by some of his oldest friends in the university community, but he has heard them out. He has tried to get around the constitutional question and the charge that he was both powerful and unavailable by meeting privately with Chairman Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee and other members of the Congress and submitting himself to the most searching questions.

Even in the heart of these endless crises over the war and trade and monetary policy in the world, he has found time early in the morning before breakfast or late at night to listen to the passionate anxieties of the world he lived in before he got caught up, almost by accident, in the world of White House power.

And always, as he has said many times since he came to Washington, because he believes it is possible to act in a crisis with a divided country, but it is not possible to lead and get at the heart of the nation's problems without more trust than we have now.

He has been asked many times why he serves an administration whose policies divide the nation, why use all this intelligence and energy for all this pointless misery and death? But, for all his doubts about the bombing and his yearning for unity, he does not accept the premise and goes on believing in the President's objectives.

So many ugly things have been said about all this and even thrown in his teeth! He loves power, loves all the notoriety and the secret trips in the night, and the opportunity to put thought to action in the Kremlin and the Forbidden City, (who wouldn't?) but through it all he has attempted many things most of his colleagues in this administration have avoided, and rescued a certain respect others have been denied.

At the time of the invasion of Cambodia, two of his young men in the White House couldn't take it any longer, and not only resigned but felt that they had to explain to the press why. They stated their case but said they didn't want to be misunderstood. This was not an attack on Kissinger. They were going, but they felt it was important for him to stay and keep placing the options before the President as honestly as he always had.

All this is obviously subject to argument, beginning with Udall's question about whether even good and intelligent men should be given such power beyond reach of the congress, but something still has to be said for Kissinger.

How he performs this delicate and dangerous role is a miracle which defies physical and intellectual endurance. He felt confident about the President's visit to Peking because he had been there and probed the quality of Chou En-lai's mind. A couple of weeks ago he was worried about the Moscow trip because he had no feeling about Brezhnev. Now, presumably, he has. But how he goes on at this pace is a mystery, and intelligent and tough as he is, maybe even a danger.

We have a government now of men, not really of laws and accepted procedures. We have an alliance with Chou En-lai but not yet with China. But if this is the way it is to be, it is not Kissinger's fault, and he is a man. He is an instrument of the President, but he has played his role with astonishing courage, patience and skill.

Life Begins At 40:

Maturity Is Better Than Youth

By ROBERT PETERSON

Every so often a letter arrives from someone wise in the ways of maturity who says, "Growing older is so much more satisfying than being young." These letters are a reminder that youth isn't quite as joyous a time as we may remember it.

It's a psychological fact that we tend to forget the unhappy incident of youth and remember the happy ones. Actually, this is one of nature's kindest tricks. If it worked the other way we'd have even longer faces than many of us have now.

Those who work with youngsters will tell you that under the gay, pert faces of youth are often concealed agonies and heartaches heavier than many adults have to bear — stemming from lack of confidence, inexperience, and wobbly emotions.

Be realistic for a moment and think back to your youth. Recall the monotony of homework, of rainy days when you had to stay indoors, and of trivial misfortunes that loomed as catastrophes? Recall how important it was to belong to certain groups?

Recall how furious you were when your parents wouldn't let you wear bangs or sideburns like the pacesetters in your class? Recall how you never had enough money for ice cream sodas? Recall how you hated algebra? Recall the tension of coping with subjects you didn't comprehend and with teachers who weren't sympathetic?

With maturity we find our independence. We stay away from clubs that bore us, we wear our locks as we like, we'll trade ice cream sodas for a good cup of coffee anytime, and the closest we get to algebra is balancing our checkbooks at the end of the month.

Several years ago a book appeared bearing the provocative title, "How to be Happy Though Young." This tome for youths, authored by the late Dr. George Lawton, claimed that youth is a hotbed of frustration, sensitivity and restlessness. Young people are constantly pulled in different directions by conflicting emotions and desires. They are eager yet half afraid and half confused. The author wrote that it is only as we mature that we become, "wise to the mathematics of pain and the chemistry of pleasure."

Young people seldom see beneath the surface of day to day existence. They enjoy a swim in the surf but they don't appreciate the magnitude of the sea. They hear a duck quack, but they don't stop to wonder about birds and their marvelous migrations. They see the moon and the stars but instead of contemplating the vastness of the universe they wonder if it'll rain for the picnic tomorrow.

What has age to offer? Quite a list of delights if we take the trouble to enumerate them. For one thing, it offers a sense of triumph. Young people hope to grow old, but they've got a host of hazards ahead and may not live to see their later years materialize. It also offers plenty of leisure time and freedom to do as we wish. And personal emancipation.

Let's stop fooling ourselves into believeing that youth was the most glorious time of life. Sure, youth has its advantages. But let's not forget that the potential pleasures of maturity far outweigh those within the immediate reach of the young.

State Air, Water Standards Under Fire

By The Associated Press

Beset by legal problems, the Nebraska Environmental Control Council Wednesday adopted a series of changes in the state's water quality standards and directed that an acceptable method be found to implement an air quality plan for the state.

The council's change in the water standards came on a 12-0 council vote despite a warning by officials of the regional office of the Federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) that the deadline in one case should not be altered.

And the quandry over the air quality plan, which had been adopted earlier this year by the council but ruled invalid by the State Justice Department, was compounded with a threat by the EPA to cut off federal funding to Nebraska for air quality programs.

A key provision of the water standards changes from next Dec. 31 to Dec. 31, 1974 a deadline for controlling feedlot waste runoff.

The delay had been sought by Gov. J. J. Exon, the 1972 Legislature, and representatives of livestock feeders, all of whom contended the 1972 deadline could not be met and was unworkable.

But Bob Steiert of the EPA regional office said the EPA would "strongly recommend" that the deadline not be changed and suggested "noncompliance should be dealt with on a case-by-case basis."

The water quality change was approved by the council after a public hearing and the council then turned its attention to the air quality plan.

The plan was based on air quality in the metropolitan Omaha region but the Justice Department held it invalid, basing the decision on a section of the 1971 law creating the council which bars the state from adopting standards more strict than federal standards. The Nebraska plan is more strict in some instances.

Mrs. Betty Abbott of Omaha told her colleagues on the council that EPA would cut off federal funding July 1 if no acceptable state plan was adopted by that time.

Department of Environmental Control Director James Higgins said the only acceptable plan, considering the 1971 law, would be to apply the plan to the Omaha and then apply it to the rest of the state as various parts of Nebraska's air became dirty up to minimum enforcement standards in the Omaha area.

Higgins' department was directed by the council to devise an acceptable method of implementing the plan, one which would meet objections raised by the Justice Department, and then bring the revised plan to the council for action.

But Higgins told the council the only apparently acceptable method was the application of the plan to Omaha.

Mrs. Abbott said she was told by EPA officials Nebraska is the only state which doesn't have an acceptable air quality plan.

She objected to application of the plan only to Omaha, contending such action would be discriminatory against Omaha industries and businesses which have to comply and then economically meet competition from plans which did not have to institute costly air quality control measures.

At one point, Mrs. Margaret Sutherland of Lincoln suggested the council ask Gov. J. J. Exon to call the Legislature into special session to consider striking the "Wyoming amendment," the portion of the 1971 law which bans the state from adoption of more stringent standards than federal-level standards.

Another alternative would be to simply let the EPA implement its own plan in Nebraska for air quality, said Higgins, but such an action would entail three different sets of standards, one for Omaha, another for Lincoln, and a third for the remainder of the state.

County Teenage Voter Registration Said Good

STAR PHOTO

ELECTION OFFICE . . . receives a steady stream of registrants as deadline nears.

An estimated one-third of the newly enfranchised 18 and 19-year-old voters in Lancaster County have registered to vote in the upcoming May 9th primary.

The deadline for filing is Friday.

A total of 3,372 new voters have registered to vote, with Democrats showing a two to one margin. According to figures assembled by the election commissioner's office 1,959 Democrats, 1,064 Republicans and 349 independents have registered.

According to 1970 U.S. Census statistics, 10,707 18 and 19-year-olds live in the county.

However, the overall percentage of the first-time voters may be much higher than the 31%.

Verl Borg, of the City-County Planning Department, pointed out that the census figures include an unknown number of college students living in Lincoln who legally claim their residence in their home-town — therefore, the higher percentage.

Election Commissioner Bill Davidson estimates that about 40% of the 18 and 19-year-olds have actually registered. He said, "It's a pretty good turn out."

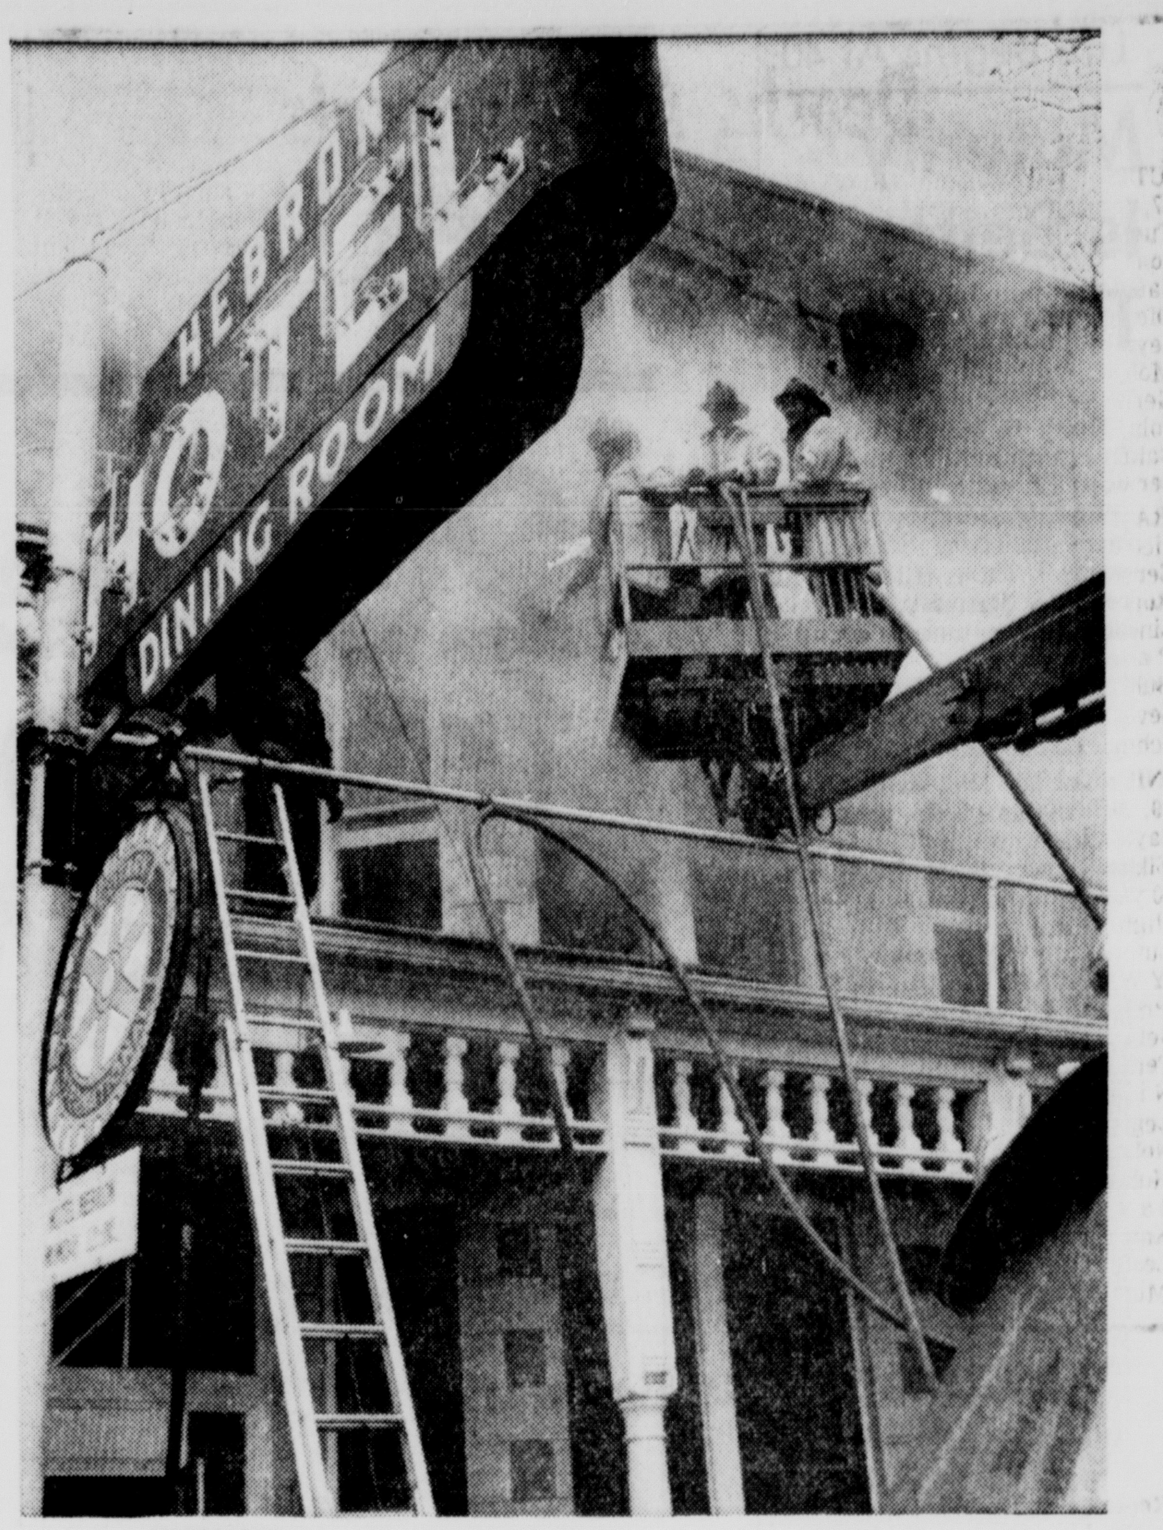
About 72% of those 20 years and older have registered in Lancaster County. A total of 77,233 have registered to vote so far, out of a possible 106,785 in that age group.

An unofficial state tally of first-time registrants shows 10,081 Democrats, 7,831 Republicans and 1,872 independents.

Davidson also pointed out that so far in April there have been 249 "cross overs" — people changing party affiliations. The Democrats showed a net gain of 197.

In order to help the public meet the Friday registration deadline, the election commissioner's office in the County-City Building is remaining open until 9 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday nights and until 6 p.m. Friday.

A second office at the Gateway Shopping Center Auditorium will be open from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday and from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday.



FIREMEN . . . contained flames to the third floor.

Noted Hotel Hebron Burns; Elderly Resident Succumbs

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Hebron — After an illustrious career of 95 years, the landmark Hotel Hebron succumbed Wednesday to a bolt of lightning.

An elderly resident, Emil Hillman, was also the victim of the fire which gutted the structure. Three other roomers and the hotel's resident owners, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Pickard, escaped without injury.

The body of Hillman, 76, was found on the floor of his third-floor apartment some four hours after the blaze was discovered about 8:40 a.m. Firemen had searched part of the building earlier but had been unable to enter all sections due to heavy smoke.

Thayer County Sheriff Jim Johnson said the body was not badly burned and it appeared the victim had been asphyxiated.

"There was no indication that he was trapped, but probably was overcome by smoke before he could leave his room," said the sheriff.

Lightning Hits

Pickard, who bought the building about two years ago, said he discovered the fire on the upper floor of the three story structure "20 minutes after a big bolt of lightning hit." A considerable portion of the area was already engulfed in flames.

"We were eating breakfast when the bolt came," he recalled. "We remarked about it being close but didn't realize it had actually hit the building."

He said he had been unable to obtain insurance on the building because of its age. He and his wife lost practically all their personal belongings, as did the other full-time residents.

Firemen from five towns managed to contain the fire itself to the upper floor, but smoke and water damage left the structure a total loss. Aiding local volunteers were units from Fairbury, Deshler, Davenport and Bruning.

Although the walls were still standing at late afternoon, firemen were still battling intermittent outbreaks of flame. An all day rain helped save the exterior but was hampering to the several dozen drenched firemen.

Changed Hands

Purchased from Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Records in 1970, the hotel had changed hands a half dozen times since 1935. Until then it had been operated by builder John W. Hughes and his family.

Hughes had founded the hotel in 1877 as the Central House, stressing an elegance which was typical of 19th Century inns. The building had claimed among its guests William Jennings Bryan, Jack Dempsey, Charles Lindbergh and Hebron's own Elmo Roper.

The Pickards had refurbished much of the building, including a dining room which still attracted Sunday patrons from distances up to 100 miles. An inlaid floor and Victorian decor were among its features.

Mr. Hillman's survivors included three sons, Ralph of Hastings, Arthur of Lincoln and Earl of Deshler; two daughters, Mrs. Edna Neesen of Lebanon, Ore., and Mrs. Orville Schmidt of Deshler; three brothers and four sisters. Services are pending at Ahrendts Funeral Home at Deshler.

State Residency Requirements Unconstitutional

. . . But Beermann Says Friday Deadline Will Remain In Effect

By United Press International

Secretary of State Allen Beermann confirmed Wednesday Nebraska residency requirements for voting are contrary to the U.S. Constitution.

However, Beermann said in a letter to county clerks and election commissioners, the dealine for registering to vote — the second Friday preceding the election — remains in effect.

In the six-page statement explaining Nebraska's situation regarding residency requirements, Beermann said his office "has received numerous requests for an opinion since the U.S. Supreme Courts decision which ruled Tennessees one-year requirement was excessive.

In applying the courts reasoning in the Tennessee decision to Nebraska's situation, Beermann said, the six-month requirement for residency imposed by the state constitution, and the state statutes requiring a 40-day residency in the county and a 10-day residency in the precinct, "must be found to be in violation of the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment.

Therefore, Beermann said, "the standard for Nebraska must be simply that whoever, on the day of election, is a U.S. citizen of the constitutionally prescribed age, and a bona fide resident of the state, county and precinct, may register to vote, provided, of course, that the person is not otherwise disqualified.

"The deadline for registration remains, however, the second Friday preceding the election, so persons who establish residency after the deadline but before the election must nevertheless register before the deadline, the statement said.

The registration deadline for the upcoming primary election on May 9 is Friday, April 28.

Beermann noted the Tennessee registration deadline of 30 days prior to the election was approved by the court as "an ample period of time for the state to complete whatever administrative tasks are necessary to prevent fraud.

However, he said, the context of the opinion "appears to indicate that any durational residency requirement exceeding the period between the close of registration — an 'administrative deadline and election day, does not serve to prevent fraud in any manner, but rather, discriminates against new residents.

Beermann said he didn't believe the decision "will work any undo hardship on the election offices or the election system in Nebraska.

"Rather, the elimination of the durational residence requirements encourages voter participation, eliminates discrimination against new residents, and maintains adequate protection against fraud by reliance on the statutes providing specifically therefore, he said.

'Nebraska, Good Life' Signs Being Produced

Highway signs, some welcoming tourists to "Nebraska, the good life," and others calling attention to major tourist attractions, are in production at the State Department of Roads Sign Shop in Lincoln.

If Federal Highway Administration officials approve, the new signs will be erected along interstate and U.S. highways in the state during the next few weeks.

Economic development director Stan Matzke said the sign program is a tourism promotion effort of the Roads Department.

Matzke said 32 signs welcoming tourists to Nebraska are planned along highways entering the state.

Another 40 signs pointing out major public tourist attractions are scheduled to be erected along the interstate highway.

The attractor signs, as they are called, will publicize the House of Yesterday, Hastings; Chimney Rock, in the Panhandle; Stuhr Museum, Grand Island; Sand Hills scenic drive, northwest of Grand Island; State Capitol and University of Nebraska, Lincoln; Ft. Kearny near Kearney; Wildcat Hills scenic drive, in the Panhandle; Ft. McPherson Cemetery, east of North Platte; Cowboy Capitol and Boot Hill, Ogallala; Buffalo Bill Scouts Rest Ranch, North Platte; Pony Express Station, Gothenburg, and Boys Town, Omaha.

Division Engineer Eldon Green of the Federal Highway Administration said federal approval has not been given, but he is hopeful of approval of the program on an experimental basis, to evaluate possible benefits to motorists.

He said the 32 ingress signs present no problem but the 40 proposed for the interstate are slightly different from standard signs.

National Honors Given For Beef Improvement

Omaha (AP) — Organizations and individuals in Oregon, Montana, Oklahoma and California were honored Wednesday night at the first national awards dinner of the Beef Improvement Federation.

The Oregon Cattlemen's Association was cited as the beef improvement organization of the year.

Chan Cooper, Willow Creek, Mont., was named the commercial cattleman of the year.

John Crowe, Whitmore, Calif., was designated the breeder of the year.

Clarence Burch, Mill Creek, Okla., received the beef improvement service award of the year.

The Oregon Association's 1971 program, under Chairman D. D. Bennett of Hermiston, involved contests, demonstrations, educational exhibits and other projects.

Cooper was cited for a variety of activities, including his having improved the average calf weaning weight in his 290-cow herd by 85 pounds in the past nine years.

Crowe was said to have used production records for improvement of his 300-cow Hereford herd since 1942. Animals from his herd have become foundation stock for several registered and commercial herds.

Burch, alumnus of Oklahoma State University and an Angus breeder, received the service award for active participation in state and national improvement programs.

"This awards dinner was truly a gathering of who's who in beef improvement," said Frank Baker, federation executive secretary and chairman of the Animal Science Department at the University of Nebraska.

Spring Snowstorm Sweeps Across Nebraska Panhandle

Another spring snowstorm swept across Nebraska's Panhandle Wednesday, while elsewhere in the state the welcome moisture came in the form of April showers, heavy in parts of the east.

Kimball reported a four-inch snowfall, whipped by a brisk north wind causing some drifting. A mixture of snow and rain fell at Chadron, Alliance, Scottsbluff and Sidney.

Rains up to 1.50 inches soaked Beaver Crossing in the eastern part of the state with 1.20 reported at Kramer, 1.57 at Central City and 1.45 at Lincoln.

In the west Sidney reported 1.39 inches of precipitation, Scottsbluff 1.23, Chadron .77 and Valentine .67.

Travel between Kimball and Scottsbluff was especially difficult. Nebraska 71 has been closed due to construction work and the detour was shut off Wednesday because of slush, according to the State Department of Roads.

Snow removal trucks were called out Wednesday morning in the Panhandle, it was reported.

Cold, cloudy weather was expected to continue over the state Thursday.

Planners Again Recommend Denial Of 48th And M Zoning

By LYNN ZERSCHLING
Star Staff Writer

For the fourth time in two years the City-County Planning Commission Wednesday has recommended denial of a change of zone request which would have allowed business development on the northwest corner of 48th and M Sts.

In a 6 to 1 vote the commission turned down the request of Nebraska Real Estate Association and Lincoln Board of Realtors for a zoning change from C Multiple to G Local Business. The organizations had proposed building an office building on the property.

Commission member Robert Allington said if this zoning change were approved it would serve as a precedent to future strip zoning along 48th St.

The lone dissenting vote was cast by commissioner Louis Shackelford, with Robert Allington, Art Duerschner, Mrs. J. Edmunds Miller, Bruce Nims, Jerome Warner and George Williamson voting to deny the request.

In other action the commission turned down and then withdrew its own request for a zoning change on property at 46th St. and Starr.

The commission had applied for a change of zone from A-2 Single Family to D Multiple on three corners of the intersection to match a similar zoning change on the northwest corner, granted Monday by the Council.

The commission approved a special permit for a handicapped facility, at So. Coddington and Old Cheney Rd. The Nebraska Center for Aid to the Handicapped is requesting the permit on about 30 acres of land for a horseback riding area. About a dozen neighboring property owners expressed concern that the property would be taken off the tax roles.

The commission also approved the community unit plan of Hardesty Real Estate at 70th St. and Pioneers Blvd. which would house 38 townhouses, renting for $550 a month.

All matters will go to the city council for further action.

In further action the commission:

Ed Board Suggesting A 5.28% Salary Hike

Negotiators for the Lincoln Board of Education Wednesday informally offered the Lincoln Education Association a proposal for salary and fringe benefit increase totalling 5.28%.

A previous proposal had offered increases with an overall average of 5.05%.

Since the proposal was handed to LEA negotiation team members during an informal session, it does not constitute a binding offer.

But school board spokesmen indicated it would be willing to make the proposal official.

The latest LEA proposal would put average increases in the 7.2% range, according to school board representatives, although the LEA says it would fall in the 5% range figuring it according to federal guidelines.

Structure Changes

LEA representatives Wednesday continued to insist on an agreement calling for a change in the structure of the district's teacher salary schedule.

LEA President Robert Wagner said his team would be willing to lower its salary requests if the board team agreed to salary structure changes beginning in the 1973-74 year.

The LEA has been suggesting percentage increases that run along consistent lines throughout the schedule, while the board team has asked for dollar increase figures.

Carroll Sawin, a school board representative in the salary talks, noted during Wednesday's discussion that settlements in the Omaha area have been less than 5.5%.

But Wagner countered by saying Lincoln teachers are already on lesser pay scales than Omaha area educators are.

'Haven't Kept Up'

"We haven't kept up with them in the past," he said. "That's why we're behind."

Members of both teams also discussed all other negotiation items, including several that have little fiscal impact.

Agreement has been reached on a few of those, items, although details remain to be worked out.

Wednesday's school board proposal would hike salary and fringe benefit costs to the district by $727,316, while the LEA's most recent proposal would cost some $995,000.

The board offer includes wage increases alone averaging 5.08%, plus increased contributions to health insurance premiums at a total cost of $27,216.

Application For Extending Network Is OKd

Nebraska Consolidated Communications Corporation has announced that the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has accepted and placed on public record an application to extend its miscellaneous common carrier network from western Nebraska to Phoenix, Ariz.

The cost of the 814-mile extension to the microwave network has been estimated at $1,503,500, according to corporation president Clifford E. Thompson.

Appropriations Amendment Defeat Is Urged By Barnett

By The Associated Press

State Sen. Wally Barnett Jr. of Lincoln recommended Wednesday that May 9 primary election voters defeat Constitutional Amendment No. 2, dealing with legislative and executive appropriation procedures.

He contended that if the amendment is approved, Legislatures will be able to bind future Legislatures on appropriations, taking away the annual check which the body has been able to maintain over state spending.

Although the bill placing the amendment on the ballot was approved on a 44-0 vote, Barnett said the effect of the proposal "was inadequately explained before the Legislature."

"The way I read this bill is that if some governor would ask some state agency to enter into some contract for 5, 10 or 20 years, the Legislature would be bound by the constitution to fund it. Therefore, I am unalterably opposed to the effect of this amendment.

"It removes from the constitution important limiting language which allowed Legislatures to appropriate for one year only. Up to this time no one Legislature could bind another. If this amendment is passed and goes into effect, control goes out the window."

The ballot explanation for Amendment 2 states: "A vote for this amendment will remove the present restriction providing that legislative appropriations extend only until the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the next regular session, thus allowing the Legislature the choice of making appropriations for one year or continuing for a period longer than one year. A vote for this amendment would also remove the present restriction providing that deficiency appropriations shall not exceed the amount of revenue authorized by law to be raised during the time for which the deficiency appropriation is made."

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

We went cruising up the river Thames. Twenty-nine feet of diesel cruiser, a cringing captain and a one-man crew. Baby, it is cold outside! April turned to 40 degrees, and a cold wind blew through the river willows.

It's been three years since I did this — it was warm summer then.

The boat bridge is protected by curtains and top. Something like a hood on a convertible. But there is no heater. The cold seeps through the cracks. We keep the cooking stove on in the galley-cabin.

One person steers while the other goes below to warm his hands.

☆ ☆ ☆

The famous Thames swans float on a river of history. At Eton — where schoolboys wear toppers and tails — the graceful chapel was founded in 1441 by Henry VI.

He ordered that it be staffed by "ten sad priests, four lay clerks, six choristers, twenty-five grammar scholars, and twenty-five poor men to pray for the King." A package tour to Heaven.

It's early in the season, and the lock keepers don't have much to do.

The lock gardens are not blooming yet. Each lock keeper gardens a trim English floral display along each side of the lock. They are judged each year and a prize awarded.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Did you stop at Bisham Abbey?" said the keeper. "You should see it on your way back then."

He said the Abbey is haunted. I asked him, "Night and day? Or are there special visiting hours?"

"I couldn't say," he said. "But there's the figure of the Lady Elizabeth Hobey in her Elizabethan ruff. The story is she beat her young son to death for blotting his school books."

He said: "Now she haunts the Abbey. And the way you'll know her is a basin floats in front of her, just out of reach. For she's trying to wash her hands clean of the sin."

☆ ☆ ☆

We came into Henley about sundown. Some courageous young men in track suits were rowing a racing shell down the stretch where they hold the annual regatta.

They looked freezing cold. The English don't dress or play by the weather. They look at the calendar. It's April. Therefore it's rowing weather. So row, blast you, row.

☆ ☆ ☆

We tied up along the grassy bank and had a drink in the warm cabin. The last of the sun was gold in the sky. The river rippled with silver. The lights came on in the river pubs: The Red Lion. The Angel. The White Hart.

After awhile we went across the stone bridge built in 1786 to the Red Lion.

"If it's river history you'd like," said the head waiter, "this is the place. Charles I stopped here in 1632 and again in 1642. Dr. Samuel Johnson stayed a night here. With Boswell, of course, taking down every blessed word.

"It was in this very hotel that Caroline Cooper refused a kiss to General Blucher who had just helped Wellington defeat Napoleon at Waterloo."

I said: "Why did he want to kiss her? Or why wouldn't she?" He said: "Now there's something I never found out. They tell it as a story, and I never asked the reason. But it's a famous piece of history."

He said the Red Lion was also famous for a visit by the prince regent. "He ate 14 mutton chops at one sitting."

I said what about Lady Hoby? "Did she ever come here for a pint?" He said: "Now you heard that story from the lock keeper, didn't you?"

He said: "It's his best story. And he tells it to every American who comes up the river. Then they come in and tell us."

He said: "Told it so often, he has, that it improves with age. Like whisky. It's his only story. You'd think he'd come here to the Red Lion and improve his repertory."

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Thursday

Many persons born under Gemini are under pressure; their mettle is being tested. But Gemini bounces back, wades through adversity and emerges with a quip and a smile. Gemini is the sign of the twins. There are more twins born under Gemini than under any other zodiacal sign. Gemini is said to be associated with the hands. There are more left-handed persons born under that sign. Gemini is versatile, restless, exasperating and funny. It isn't easy to live with Gemini, but the world would be bleak without these persons.

Audit Reveals Central Nebraska Action Program Deviations

Washington (AP) — A General Accounting Office investigation of the Central Nebraska Community Action Program, Inc., Loup City, Neb., showed unneeded cash was not being placed in interest-bearing accounts and blank checks were being signed in advance.

"Our audit revealed deviations from Office of Economic Opportunity and corporation policies and instructions relating to payroll travel, procurement, the control of cash and nonexpendable property," Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats said in a letter to Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb.

The corporation was organized Sept. 14, 1965, to bring together all residents of Custer, Valley, Howard, Greeley and Sherman counties "in an effort to ensure that all persons are provided the opportunity to obtain the skills, knowledge and motivations necessary for them to become self-sufficient."

As of Sept. 30, 1971, the corporation had received grant funds from OEO amounting to $932,898 of which $761,767 had been expanded.

At the time of the review in October 1971, the report said, grant funds exceeding current operating needs and amounting to about $93,000 were deposited in special non-interest-bearing accounts.

"We estimate that about $2,200 could have been earned in interest income from September 1970 through September 1971 and the corporation placed the excess funds in interest-bearing accounts," the report said.

When it was known in advance that only one of the persons authorized to sign checks would be at the main office during a payroll period or a period when invoices were normally paid, an authorized person occasionally would sign checks in advance, the report said.

"In the interest of maintaining the prescribed level of internal control, which requires dual approval of all disbursements, checks should not be signed in advance before the amounts and payees have been determined and documented," it said.

Post To Hruska's Brother

Washington (AP) — Victor E. Hruska, brother of Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., next Monday will become head of the older Americans volunteer program in the Nixon Administration's volunteer service agency, ACTION.

Hruska, 64, has been employed for the past 35 years with the Prudential Insurance Co. of America. For the past five years, he has been director of claims.

Hruska, who is retiring from the insurance company, will be paid in excess of $30,000 in his new job.

John Keller, who has run the older Americans volunteer program since President Nixon combined several volunteer agencies last summer, will become Hruska's No. 2 man.

Although the appointments will not be announced officially until Monday, one source said that in Hruska, the agency has a strong administrator, and in Keller, a person with expertise.

Exon Backs Chapel For State Home

Gov. J. James Exon Wednesday, in signing a proclamation for the Beatrice Kiwanis Club, offered his support and commended the club for its statewide campaign to achieve the goal of collecting sufficient funds to build a chapel for the Beatrice State Home.

According to Keith W. Chambers of the club, approximately $55,000 has been collected of the $250,000 goal.

Spokesmen for All Faiths Chapel, Inc., which was started by the Beatrice Kiwanis Club in 1965 with the purpose of collecting the funds for the chapel, said the "need for the chapel becomes all the more apparent when we note that absence of an adequate facility keeps many of the residents from religious worship."

Chambers said that it is apparent that the Beatrice State Home is to continue indefinitely, there is a need for the chapel and funds with which to build one.

Gov. Exon said that the chapel "will be a wonderful addition to the home," adding that he would be willing to help by writing letters to all presidents of Kiwanis Clubs in the state commending the project.

"The Word of God can mean a lot to these people," Exon said.

Humphrey, McGovern Supporters Digging In For Primary

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Buoyed by major primary victories in the East, supporters of Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Sen. George McGovern dug in Wednesday for their May 9 shootout in Nebraska.

"The two main contenders (for the Democtatic presidential nomination) now are Senators McGovern and Humphrey," former Gov. Frank Morrison told a Lincoln news conference.

"I think that's obvious to everybody."

Morrison, who heads McGovern's Nebraska citizens organization, pegged the South Dakotan as "the frontrunner."

An hour earlier, Eugenie Moore Anderson, former U.S. ambassador to Denmark and a Minnesota friend of the Humphreys, had reached some of the same conclusions.

McGovern is now Humphrey's leading opponent, Mrs. Anderson told Lincoln newsmen.

'I Am Confident'

"But I am confident that Senator Humphrey will be nominated and elected. He's the only man who can defeat Nixon."

While Mrs. Anderson called Humphrey's Pennsylvania primary victory "stunning," Morrison termed McGovern's Massachusetts triumph "great," coupled wiht "a very signficant showing" in Pennsylvania.

"I think I know Nebraska people well enough to be sure that if they get the facts, Senator McGovern will win handily here" next month, Morrison said.

McGovern, he said, has "the best chance of getting America back on the track . . . . He enjoys the broadest and deepest support of any candidate."

Guy Cooper of Humboldt, who left the Republican Party to support McGovern this year, told newsmen that the senator is "a liberal addressing himself to the welfare of the people . . . honest, consistent, a patriot" and a man with "a sense of the unseemly."

Morrison said he "cannot visualize" Sen. Henry Jackson as a major challenger to McGovern or Humphrey in Nebraska. "He hasn't been anyplace else," he said.

Headquarters To Open

A second McGovern headquarters is opening at 6217 Havelock Avenue in Lincoln, Morrison announced.

Mrs. Anderson said Humphrey's Pennsylvania victory should carry him to triumphs next week in Ohio and Indiana, and then on to the Nebraska primary.

Humphrey's broad experience in government and his contacts with world leaders stamp him as the candidate who would make "the best president," she said.

The Minnesotan came "within less than 1% of winning" the White House in 1968, Mrs. Anderson said, even though he "started way behind" with a divided party.

"He's liberated now," she said, no longer tied to the administration of Lyndon Johnson.

W. Peterson Calls Recent Tax Reforms 'A Mirage'

Omaha (UPI) — Wallace Peterson of Lincolln, candidate for the Democratic senatorial nod, said here Wednesday tax reform in recent years has been "little more than a mirage," and pledged to help out the middle-income taxpayer if elected.

He said the present system is "heavily rigged" in favor of the more well-to-do.

"The federal income tax is strongly weighted in favor of persons who get their income from capital gains, state and local tax-exempt bond interest, oil and other minerals and certain types of real estate," he said.

He said 1,300 persons with incomes over $50,000 did not pay any federal income tax last year.

He said he is for the elimination of preferential tax treatment of income from capital gains, the elimination of the tax-exempt status of state and local government bonds and the elimination of depletion allowances in excess of cost for production of gas, oil and minerals.

Gov. Kneip Will Campaign For McGovern In Nebraska

Omaha (UPI) — South Dakota Gov. Richard F. Kneip will campaign in several southeast Nebraska cities Saturday in behalf of the candidacy of South Dakota Sen. George McGovern for the Democratic presidential nomination.

His activities will include house-to-house canvassing in Omaha.

His day will start with an appearance at the walk for development at 8 a.m. in Lincoln.

Kneip will be in Blair for a noon luncheon and later attend a beef auction at Schuyler. He will visit the leisure living fair in Columbus later in the day.

That night he will attend a dance at the Appleton Community Center in David City.

Nominations For Arbor Day Awards Open

Stanley Matzke, director of the State Economic Development Dept., said nominations for the national Arbor Day awards program will be received until Dec. 31.

Judging for the program will take place in March and awards will be presented during Arbor Day ceremonies on April 22, 1973.

"We would hope that through the national awards program we can continue the famous 'plant a tree for tomorrow' slogan coined by J. Sterling Morton," Matzke said.

Nominations will be accepted in four major categories: news media; companies and corporations; associations; and an individual award.

Lincoln Center Developers Elect Roland Tornblom

Roland Tornblom, president of City National Bank, has been elected president of the Lincoln Center Development Association.

Roland Tornblom

Elected President

Tornblom also serves as president of the Cornhusker Council of Boy Scouts, and before coming to Lincoln, was active in central business district redevelopment programs in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

R. L. White, president of R. L. White Co., will serve as vice president, and Robert Magee, president of Magee's Inc., will be treasurer of the association.

At a special Wednesday meeting, the association presented awards for physical improvements to Hospe Music Co. 1140 O; Wells & Frost, 1134 O; Superior Equity Corp., 124 No. 11th; Cliff Hillegass for property at 12th and Q; and Leather, Inc., 1615 O.

K. P. O'Donnell Will Campaign For Humphrey

Omaha (UPI) — Former White House special assistant Kenneth P. O'Donnell will campaign here Friday on behalf of Minnesota Sen. Hubert Humphrey's bid for the Democratic presidential nod.

He is currently serving as special advisor to Humphrey.

O'Donnell was chief of staff in the White House to the late President John F. Kennedy. He was also a special assistant to President Lyndon Johnson.

In 1968, followig the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, he was co-chairman of the Humphrey-Muskie Citizens Committee.

While in Omaha, O'Donnell will hold a news conference, visit various government offices, and attend a luncheon and cocktail party.

Drive Begun

Montreal (AP) — A national campaign has been launched in Canada to establish two memorials to the late Dr. Norman Bethune, a chest surgeon known for his work in Spain and China in the 1930s.

"I Had Psoriasis 10 Years Then Red Patches, Scales Go After 4 Weeks of New Treatment"

A new treatment, Oxipor VHC® (very highly concentrated), has been proved by doctors to be twice as effective to remove scales, crusts and red patchy skin as the leading product.

Take Case 17 for example. The patient had psoriasis on legs and chest for 10 years. Within 3 weeks' treatment with new Oxipor VHC—redness and scaling were reduced. In 4 weeks scaly patches were gone.

What Oxipor VHC did for Case 17 and many, many more similar chronic cases, it may well do for you. Results with Oxipor VHC may often become apparent after only a few days' treatment. First itching and redness start to go. Then scales go. Large patches break up into smaller spots and become lighter in color. Regular use of Oxipor VHC Lotion as directed helps prevent scales from coming back.

Just ask for Oxipor VHC. All its medicaments are medically approved. Results are remarkably successful.

State Sen. C. W. Holmquist, 65, Of Oakland, Dies

Omaha (AP) — State Sen. C. W. Holmquist, Oakland businesman and an eight-year member of the state legislature, died Wednesday at Bishop Clarkson Hospital at the age of 65.

He had undergone surgery April 7 for removel of a tumor from his esophagus.

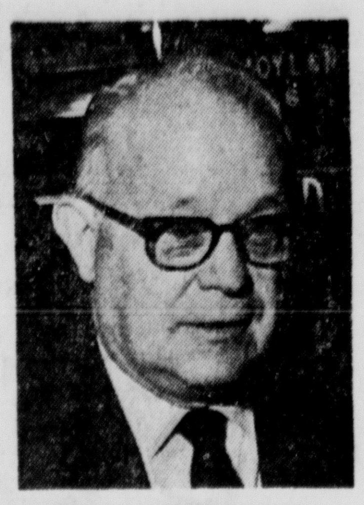
A retail merchant in grain, lumber and petroleum products, Holmquist was in the middle of a four-year Unicameral term to which he was elected in 1970.

He was chairman of the legislature's Public Works Committee and in 1969 had been chairman of the Legislative Council executive board, one of the three most prestigious positions in the body.

Holmquist had filed in March for delegate to this year's Republican national convention, pledged to President Nixon. Because ballot listings have been closed, his name will show up on the May 9 primary election ballot.

Holmquist was considered a strong contender for speaker of the Legislature in 1971 but withdrew and the post went to his colleague and close friend, Sen. William H. Hasebroock of West Point.

As chairman of the Unicamerial's Public Works Committee, Holmquist had been influential in legislation related to public power.



Sen. C. W. Holmquist

His positions on labor issues sometimes drew the ire of organized labor. He had been an opponent, for example, of legislation authorizing public employes to bargain collectively.

In his home area of northeastern Nebraska, Holmquist had been active in a variety of civic and community endeavors. In 1969 he was named by former Republican Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann to be a member of the Nebraska Hall of Fame Commission.

An aide said the District 16 senator had been hospitalized about three weeks. He declined to give the cause of death.

Holmquist was born Oct. 4, 1906, in Oakland and was a graduate of Oakland High School and the University of Nebraska. He received his college degree in 1928.

He was manager and secretary-treasurer of the Holmquist Grain and Lumber Co. and a past president of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

He also was a member of the Nebraska Lumbermen's Association and the Northeast Nebraska United Chambers of Commerce.

He had served three years on the executive board of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association, and 15 years on the board of directors of Oakland Memorial Hospital Association.

He had been elected to three consecutive terms in the Unicameral, the first in 1964.

He had served as a member of the Oakland City Council for five years, and as its chairman for three years. He was a member of the Burt County Agricultural Society for 19 years and served as its president for a decade.

Holmquist also served as co-chairman of the finance committee for the Oakland Centennial in 1964 and was a former representative of the Nebraska Fair Managers Association for his district.

He was one of the organizers of the Oakland Golf Club, Inc., and served as its president since 1945.

He also was a member of the legislative committee of the Nebraska Lumbermen's Association, the Elks, the Masonic Lodge and Eagles Lodge.

Survivors include his widow, Mildred Ruth; three daughters, Mrs. Cynthia Pitchett, Mrs. Nancy Diekman and Jean.

Successor Question Studied

Secretary of State Allen Beermann said Wednesday he is reviewing state law to determine how a successor should be chosen for the late Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland.

A representative of the 16th Legislative District, Holmquist had been elected in 1970 for a four-year term.

His immediate successor will be appointed by Gov. J. J. Exon, who said he has not "considered a successor yet and won't for several days."

Exon said the death of the lawmaker was "untimely" and one that the state would feel "deeply."

The question of a successor to Holmquist could go on the November general election ballot but Beermann said he had not yet had sufficient time to research state law to determine whether such a route should be followed.

The News In Suburbia

We have all heard the cliche "April showers bring May flowers" and if that is true, judging from the rain we have had — and are having — there should be flowers galore throughout the approaching month. Naturally, everyone associates garden flowers with warm weather and all of us are anxious for the arrival of sunny skies, especially since we were prematurely exposed to summertime weather earlier in the season.

Probably somewhat bewildered by Nebraska weather are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Bronner of Wellington Greens who arrived in February from Albuquerque, N.M. to make Lincoln their home in February.

Mr. and Mrs. Bronner have two daughters — one of them is Mrs. Dan Sholly who with her husand and three-year-old son, Cam, resides in Yosemite National Park, Calif. Their other daughter, Miss Diana Lynn, a junior at the University of New Mexico, in Albuquerque, where she is affiliated with Tri Delta Sorority, is to be a bride on May 20, when her marriage to Lester D. Koester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Koester of Albuquerque will be solemnized. The ceremony will take place at tre Immanuel Presbyterian Church in Albuquerque.

Mr. Koester is also a junior at the University of New Mexico and is affiliated with Sigma Chi fraternity.

Since the Bronners have become Lincoln residents they have entertained guests at their home. During the Easter weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Tucker and family of Peoria, Ill., were here for a visit.

Mr. Bronner is associated with Lincoln Liberty Life Insurance Company.

Mr. and Mrs. David W. Joseph and their children, Sharon, Rona and Bret of Eastborough were in the eastern part of the country early in April, when they visited Mrs. Joseph's mother and sister, Mrs. Walter Barber and Mary in Addison, N.Y. Four-fifths of the family returned to Nebraska on Easter Sunday, but Mrs. Joseph lingered in Addison for a longer visit with her family, and friends in the area. She returned home April 13.

Now a glance at the near future. There is to be a piano recital on Sunday afternoon, in which Sharon and Rona will participate. The event will be held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth McClain, who has been their piano instructor for two years.

Several holidays and a birthday were combined — and celebrated — when Mr. and Mrs. Larry A. Witt of Southwood and their daughters, Lisa and Lori, entertained at a family dinner last Saturday.

You see, when the scheduled Easter dinner for the Witts and their family had to be called off, Mrs. Witt decided to wait a few weeks and combine the Easter celebration with those for Mother's Day, Father's Day, and Mr. Witt's father's birthday.

Guests at the family affair included Mr. Witt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olin H. Witt, and Mrs. Witt's mother, Mrs. Goldie Zajicek.

Another birthday will be celebrated in the Witt household on Friday, when Miss Lori Witt will be the guest of honor at a party in observance of her second birthday. Friends and relatives will drop in during the daytime and evening hours to bring their best wishes.

Today there is a birthday celebrant at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Scott — their son Brian, who is one year old. Of course the celebration will be a cake-and-ice cream party this evening, and included among the guests will be Brian's brother, Todd, and his grandaparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bickford.

MISS PATRICIA ANDERSEN

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Andersen of Cozad make announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Kay, to Gary Edward Lockhorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lockhorn of Ravenna.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Aug. 12.

Miss Andersen is a graduate of Central Nebraska Technical College in Hastings, and now is careering the in law offices of Reller, McArthur and Hays in Lincoln. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi, business girls' sorority.

Mr. Lockhorn will be graduated in May from the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, and is a member of Alpha Tau Alpha, agriculture honorary.

Conclave Musicale

The members of Beta Conclave, Kappa Kappa Iota, were treated to a musicale when they met at the home of Mrs. H. O. Cochell on Friday evening, April 21.

Assisting hostess for the evening meeting was Mrs. D. F. Pugh.

Convention Delegates Selected

The biennial convention of the National Retired Teachers Association will take place in Miami Beach, Fla., Monday, May 1, through Thursday, May 4.

Among the Nebraska delegates to the four-day meetings to be headquartered at the Carillon Hotel are Mrs. Florence Spearman president of the Lincoln Area Retired Teachers Association (LARTA); Miss Unis Preston, former LARTA president and current chairman of the retirement committee for the Nebraska association; Miss Mary Sturmer, and Miss Mildred Moore of Grand Island, state president.

Homemaker Day Features ETV Tour

Homemaker Day is the day set aside each year by the Agriculture Committee of the Women's Division of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce—a day during which extension club leaders and presidents from the surrounding counties are recognized for their activities and contributions.

Representatives of clubs in Lancaster, Cass, Otoe, Seward, and York counties journeyed to Lincoln on Wednesday, April 26, to share the limelight and discuss past and future activities.

Highlights of this year's Homemaker Day included a tour of the new Educational Television Facilities at the University of Nebraska, an address by NU Chancellor James Zumberge, and a luncheon at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

Women's Day Festivities At Wesleyan

The 76th birthday party and annual meeting of the Woman's Wesleyan Educational Council (WWEC) took place at Nebraska Wesleyan University on Tuesday, April 25.

The council's aim is to interest the United Methodist Women of Nebraska and other friends of the university in promoting the welfare of the educational complex.

The festivities included the naming of scholarship recipients, an address by NWU President Vance Rogers, and an afternoon birthday tea.

Also taking place during the annual Woman's day event was the installation of officers for the coming year. Mrs. J. LaVerne Jay was named president, and the other new officers include Mrs. Ward Sims, vice president; Mrs. Harold E. Hall, recording secretary; Mrs. Allan K. Williams, corresponding secretary; and Miss Bernice Halbert, treasurer. Mrs. Jessie Yost of Nebraska City is the immediate past president of the WWEC.

Mrs. Gale C. Anderson and Mrs. Harold W. Lucke were elected to three-year terms on the board of trustees.

Pictured at the Woman's Day affair are, from left to right, Mrs. Jay, Mrs. Yost, Mrs. Hall, and Miss Halbert.

State Day Observed

The annual Kappa Delta State Day observance took place in Lincoln on Saturday, April 22.

Fifty-year sorority members were honored at the event. Receiving White Rose Circle Certificates from Mrs. Earl L. Jackson, a member of the National Council of Kappa Delta, were Mrs. R. H. Mohrman, Mrs. P. M. Smith, and Miss Grace Morley, all of Lincoln; Mrs. Leslie Noble of Beatrice, Mrs. Alfred Sorensen of Tecumseh, Mrs. Bernard Norsworthy of Gothenburg, Mrs. Norman Miller of North Platte, and Mrs. George P. Hanna of Valentine.

The Outstanding Lincoln Alumnae was recognized during the State Day festivities, and the Omaha alumnae group presented an award to the NU senior with the highest scholastic average.

Collegiates and alumnae took part in a panel discussion which completed the annual affair. The discussion was entitled "Sorority Trends, Past and Present."

Conference Speaker

Mrs. Bertha T. Olson of Minneapolis, Minn., grand vice president of the North Central Region of Alpha Delta Kappa, will be the featured guest speaker at the annual state convention of ADK which will take place in Lincoln on Saturday, April 29.

The meetings will take place at the Legionnaire Club, and Theta Chapter of Lincoln will host the event.

Mrs. Ruby Duryea of Kearney, state president, will preside at the business meeting which will follow the 8:30 o'clock morning registration and coffee hour.

The bidding:

Opening lead — jack of spades.

One of the tricks of the trade is to prey upon your opponent's gullibility by trying to persuade him he is subject to a danger that is actually non-existent.

Here is a fine example of the art. South got to three notrump on the bidding shown and West (Mrs. Dorothy Hayden) led the jack of spades, even though North had bid the suit.

Declarer can hardly be blamed for ducking in dummy, since East might well have had the singleton ace or king, or possibly the A-K alone. Covering with the queen, in each of these cases, could well prove disastrous.

Mrs. Hayden continued with the ten. Declarer was now afraid that East had started with either the A-8 or K-8 doubleton, in which case covering with the queen would lose the contract if West had the ace of diamonds as an entry card to cash two more spades.

So, rightly or not, declarer ducked the ten also. Mrs. Hayden thereupon cashed the A-K of spades, as South reddened visibly. On the spades East discarded the deuce of hearts and deuce of clubs, this indirectly signaling for a diamond.

Having cashed four tricks, Mrs. Hayden now switched to a diamond and the outcome was that South ended up going down two.

Obviously, had declarer realized what Mrs. Hayden was trying to do to him, he would have won the first or second trick with the queen of spades and finished the hand with ten tricks instead of the seven he actually scored.

Maybe Kipling was right when he said the female of the species is more deadly than the male.

BOOKS—"An Evening With Richard Nixon"

By CYNTHIA JOHNSON

A not insignificant amount of what politicians say —especially while doing battle with the forces of the opposition — remains to haunt them long after the episode that triggered the response has faded from memory. Probably due to the expanded on-the-spot coverage by the news media, of political events, the past several years seem to have been sprinkled more generously than ever with these later-to-be-regretted bloopers.

Most recently, the world heard Sen. Edmund Muskie state quite candidly that a Black could not, at this point in history, be elected to the vice-presidency of the United States. Predictably, criticism by those who had not stopped to assess the tenor of those words, rained down upon the author of the statement. Spiro Agnew has had an infamous predilection for verbal faux pas, sending newsmen scurrying to their typewriters and leaving liberals gaping in bemused astonishment when he referred to a casual acquaintance as a "fat Jap" or observed that when you've seen one slum, you've seen them all. Even a man as seemingly cool and urbane as George Romney suffered a momentary loss of "cool" when he confided that he had been "brainwashed" by military officials concerning U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Nor is the office of the presidency immune to this sort of tactical blunder. The men who occupy that position, fortunately or unfortunately, are only too human; contradictory, and yes, even rash, statements attend them no less than other men.

Taking a dim view of this fact of life, and an even dimmer view of America's ability to forget what a politician has said or been in the past, is Gore Vidal, whose most recent literary endeavor, a play entitled "An Evening With Richard Nixon" (Random House), is an attempt to expose some of the more glaring inconsistencies and mindless remarks indulged in by recent American leaders — especially Richard Nixon. In his introduction, Vidal, who apparently harbors no love for anyone save Gore Vidal, alludes to the "national amnesia" regarding his less creditable words and deeds of famous men, and sets forth his purpose: To effect a cure of that amnesia by reminding the American public of what has been said and done in the past.

Vidal has woven his play around the life of Richard Nixon, using as his vehicle, statements made by Nixon and about Nixon. As could be expected, Nixon, who perhaps has not been the model of consistency or temperance in his public and private comments, comes out on the short end; however, since Nixon's political career has spanned several administrations, Vidal finds it convenient to include others as well in his game of recall.

By way of conversation between the four main characters — George Washington (who acts as narrator), Dwight Eisenhower, JFK, and Nixon — and through the insertion of appropriate quotations, Nixon's major vulnerabilities (especially his image as a Communist witch-hunter and conductor of "smear campaigns, and his financial entaglements with California businessmen) are brought to light. At the same time, JFK and LBJ get theirs—the former for the Bay of Pigs, and for conducting a secret war in Viet Nam; and the latter for escalating an unpopular war.

Aside from the usual comments that might be made about the play — how it is written (not very well; it is frequently rough and haphazard in form and content), and what it says (not much, except that politicians will be politicians)—Vidal has left himself open for criticism of another sort.

There is a good deal of potential danger in utilizing quotations in the way that he has done. In the first place, many appear uncited, casting considerable doubt upon their sources. Perhaps more importantly, quoting remarks out of context — both verbal and temporal—is a rather suspect process. It is possible that some statements, extracted from commentary voiced years before, may be taken at face value; others, due to mediating factors, may not. Vidal has made no distinction between the two.

Yet, Vidal's point is not entirely invalid. The public should remain aware of what their representatives are saying and have said, in order to judge them more accurately. For this reason alone, Vidal's play is recommended, although it should be read with a good deal of historical perspective, and taken with a grain of salt.

Soroptimist Speakers

"Women's Role in Today's Government" was the topic when two guest speakers addressed the members of the Soroptimist Club of Lincoln at that group's public affairs dinner on Wednesday evening, April 26, at Radisson Cornhusker Hotel.

The guest speakers were Mrs. C. Phillip Agee and Mrs. James H. Weber.

Abby: good mother

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I must comment on mothers who go thru their teen-agers' drawers and read heir personal mail. Don't they know that the way to teach their children to respect the privacy of others is to practice it? You also teach love by practicing it.

I raised three children, and they always came to me with their little problems because they knew that I would always listen, and comfort them even when they did wrong, and not condemn. Maybe that is why they never had any big problems.

I know a mother who kicked her 17-year-old daughter out of the house because she found out she had had a love affair. Kicked her own daughter right out into the street Where else? She soon became pregnant, and then her mother cried, "I tried to be a good mother . . . how could she do this to ME?"

I just on't understand some people, Abby.

DeCamp Backs McGovern Candidacy

Omaha (UPI)—State Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh, one of six candidates for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate, announced Wednesday he is supporting South Dakota Sen. George McGovern for president.

At a news conference, DeCamp said the question of who will be president "may well be more important than who becomes United States senator from Nebraska or anything else."

"Agriculture in Nebraska is on the verge of destruction and none of the leadership in this country seems very inclined to do anything about it," he said. He added that his decision to support McGovern was "made most carefully."

He said his primary effort from now on will be to insure a strong McGovern victory in Nebraska. DeCamp said McGovern's record in the Senate in working for rural America and the family farm "is equalled by none."

Greatest Concern

The Neligh lawmaker said the South Dakota senator's greatest concern probably has been "the horror and sin of the Vietnam War. I support Sen. McGovern in his opposition to this war, and I say these words not as a coward."

He noted he had served as an army infantry captain in Vietnam and was decorated by both the American and Vietnamese governments.

"I say and believe that the Vietnam war is the greatest international blunder this country has ever made," DeCamp said. "It has killed our youths and has created divisiveness in this country the like of which America has never known. It has created tens of thousands of heroin and drug addicts and an inflation which has riddled our economy."

DeCamp said five or six persons had filed as delegates pledged to McGovern in an effort to weaken the vote total of the South Dakotan's original delegate slate.

Plot Seen

DeCamp charged that the persons who filed were "secretaries or elevator operators or something" and that "this clearcut plot to load up the ballot was the work of Humphrey people, although I don't believe Sen. Humphrey himself would stoop to something that base."

Regarding his own campaign for the senatorial nomination, DeCamp said he was heartened by three polls which showed him running first and second in Omaha, first in Lincoln and first, second and third outstate.

He said he has spent only $214 so far on his campaign and that he was running ahead of "one $100,000 candidate who is running last in the polls."

Dead Man Walks

Porto Alegre, Brazil (AP)—His friends and relatives paled and some fainted when Carlos Roberto walked in on his own wake. A look-alike had been killed in an auto accident and an uncle had identified the body as that of Roberto.

This Week's Health Tip

Every year people are injured by power mowers. The Nebraska Medical Association says accidents can be eliminated through proper use and caution when using a mower.

Mower blades generate enough force to slash toes, shear fingers, and throw stones or small bits of metal at the speed of a rifle bullet. Shields and belt guards on mowers should always be left in place.

Before mowing a yard, debris should be picked up. Children and pets should stay away from the mower in use.

The mower should be checked and repaired before mowing season begins and routinely during the season. You should follow the manufacturer's manual of instructions and use common sense in operating the machine.

Mow the lawn in a pattern that permits you to always move forward, not backward pulling the mower toward you. The machine should be completely turned off and cool before refueling.

The Nebraska Medical Association points out that a mower can be a time saving convenience, or a dangerous weapon, depending on how it is operated.

Anglers In A Slump

Well, it was bound to happen sooner or later. After the past few weeks of decent angling, few fishermen have been able to report any sizeable catches at all.

In fact, few anglers bothered to even mention that they had been fishing at all. And those that did had nothing decent at all to say about their luck.

Floyd Baker from Omaha claims that he didn't have any strikes to speak of, despite fishing in several of his favorite spots last week.

"I don't know what went wrong," the veteran angler says. "I used about every trick I know to get them to bite, but I didn't have any luck at all. Maybe it's too cold for them."

Floyd says he didn't rely on just one type of lure, but switched back and forth and even rummaged in the bottom of his tackle box, searching for something that might turn the trick.

"I even used some live bait, but didn't have any luck at all," he sighed. "I caught a few cats on some set lines — one a ten-pounder — but I didn't have any luck at all with rod and reel."

Floyd, a retired railroad man from Chicago who moved to Omaha five years ago to be near his daughter, said he fished "all around southeastern Nebraska and a little out west" but didn't find any hot spots at all.

Big Mac Not Active

"Hell, I even tried Lake McConaughy early last week, but didn't have much luck at all. I caught a couple of bass, but they were hardly worth keeping. We're just in a slump, that's all.

Floyd said he talked to several other anglers at Big Mac and learned that fishing had been "pretty good the week before I went out. But then they kinda hit a dry spell where they didn't catch anything."

But he doesn't think that the lull will last too much longer.

"I think that fishing will pick up sometime in the next two weeks. The early fishing that was so good was due to the really great weather we had. The fish felt like moving and that made them hungry so they'd take most anything.

Feeding Habits Changed

"Now that the weather has cooled off a little (the rains didn't help) the fish aren't as eager to move. They've changed their feeding habits and it'll take a break in the weather to get them to change back," Floyd explains.

"I think the weather'll warm up either next week or the week after and then we'll have good fishing again. We'd have good fishing now if we could figure out their feeding habits, but we're used to their old ways and it'll take us a while to get used to the change."

He paused and collected his thoughts. "Before we find out what the difference is, they'll have changed back and we'll be right back where we started from.

"This isn't unusual at all," he added. "This type of slump happens all the time. It's just that the weather has been so good and then changed that the fishermen aren't used to it. Things'll pick up. They always do."

Riva Ridge Leads Field In Blue Grass Stakes

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Riva Ridge, probable favorite in the 98th Kentucky Derby May 6, will get his final tune-up Thursday in the $40,000-added Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland.

Starting from the outside post position, the bay son of First Landing will have 10 challengers in the 1⅛-mile race that has produced more Derby winners in recent years than any other.

Riva Ridge, the 2-year-old champion of last season after winning five stakes in succession for Mrs. John Tweedy's Meadow Stable, has raced only twice this year.

He opened his sophomore campaign March 22 by winning the 7-furlong Hibiscus Stakes over a field that included Derby probables New Prospect, Head of The River and Freetex.

In his only other start, he was boxed on the rail between two horses and finished fourth in the 9-furlong Everglades, his trainer, Lucien Laurin, thought that excuse enough to disregard the defeat.

The only other stakes winner of this season in the Blue Grass field is Brownell Combs IIs Divorce Trial, who took the Jan. 29 Militia Handicap at Liberty Bell, going 1 1-16 miles in 1:47 over a track rated good.

Divorce Trial, who placed in four stakes last season, also is the only other colt in the Blue Grass field of 11 who wouldn't more than double his career earnings with the first prize of $32,305.

If all 11 start, the race will gross $49,700, richest of the 49 runnings of the event that has sent seven of the past 12 Derby winners to Lousville from its ranks.

Also among the top challengers for Riva Ridge in the Blue Grass is Bicker, Earl Scheib's bay son of Round Table who has been in the money seven of eight races this year on the West Coast.

Bicker trailed The Pie Host to the wire in the one-mile Contra Costa Stakes at Golden Gate Fields March 4 by 14 lengths and six of his eight races this season have been at more than a mile.

Introductivo, purchased earlier this month by Corbin J. Robertson for $125,000—the same as the added money in the Derby—drew the inside post position for the Blue Grass. Bobby Breen will ride.

To the outside, in order, will be Breakozone, Thurloe Square, Sensitive Music, Mr. Charge, Sir Woodley Bicker, Divorce Trial, Our Trade Winds, Majestic Needle and Riva Ridge.

Breakozone and Majestic Needle, both owned by 1970 Derby winner Robert E. Lehmann, are coupled in the betting. With 10 wagering interests, there will be no mutuel field.

KNICKS STUN LAKERS, 114-92

'Dollar' Bill's 29 Leads NY Effort

. . . LUCAS ADDS 26

Inglewood, Calif. (UPI) — "You have to shoot well and play good defense to beat Los Angeles," New York Knicks coach Red Holzman said Wednesday night after his team had done just that.

The Knicks, led by "Dollar Bill" Bradley's 29 points and 26-point effort by Jerry Lucas, bombed the Lakers 114-92 to take a 1-0 lead in the National Basketball Association championship series.

"We were getting back well on defense," said Holtzman. "If a guy was late we always seemed to help him out."

While the Knicks' air-tight defense took care of the NBA's No. 1 offensive club, the New Yorker offense was fantastic too. The Knicks, as a team, shot 54 per cent from the floor on 49 of 91 attempts.

"We had an exceptional shooting night," said Bradley. "There's no way you can expect that to happen."

Bill Sharman, the NBA's Coach of the Year, watched his Lakers beat the Knicks four out of five times in compiling the best regular season record in NBA history.

"They present a tough problem for us on matchups," Sharman said. "In fact, this may be the toughest match up we have in the league, mostly because of Lucas' outside shooting.

"So we beat them four out of five times. But all the games were close — they could have gone either way. If they continue to short from the outside like they did tonight they'll be as tough to beat as the Knicks' team of two years ago."

The Knicks shot an incredible 72 per cent from the field in the first half to pile up an 18-point intermission bulge and never looked back against a club that eliminated last year's champion Milwaukee Bucks.

Equalling a career playoff high, Bradley was 11 for 12 from the floor while Lucas was 13 for 20, all but two of his baskets coming on outside bombs.

Dave Debusschere came through with 19 points and had 18 rebounds to help the Knicks register their eighth victory in nine playoff games this spring.

The Lakers, who took the regulars out while trailing by 26 points at 101-75 with 5:07 to go, were led by Gail Goodrich with 20 points, 16 of them in the opening quarter. Goodrich, however, missed his last eight shots, the same as Jerry West who was held to 12 points.

The best-of-seven series matching the 1970 NBA finalists continues at the forum here Sunday at 11:40 a.m. CST.

Going for their second NBA title in four years despite having only the seventh best regular season record, the Knicks broke the game open early in the third period after Los Angeles sneaked to within 13 at 67-54.

The Knicks then got six unanswered points with Debusschere hitting a 21-foot jump shot and Bradley pumping in a pair of baskets.

The biggest New York lead came in the third period at 107-77.

Walt Frazier tallied 14 points and reserve Phil Jackson hit for 13 for the Knicks. Second year man Jim McMillian seconded Goodrich in the Laker scoring with 14 while Wilt Chamberlain had 19 rebounds and 12 points.

Huskers Continue Gym Work

The 1971-72 gymnastics season is over, but the work goes on for coach Francis Allens Cornhuskers.

That goes double for NCAA qualifiers Hoppy Batten and Larry Evermann. Batten, a two-event Big 8 champion (high bar and vaulting), and Evermann, who finished third a second straight time on the pommel horse, are working four to five days a week — standard practice in a sport which requires tremendous concentration and physical conditioning

Both athletes feel that competing in the NCAA meet in Ames was a tremendous experience. Evermann said his second trip to the nationals was about like the first except that he was a lot more confident.

"It was just like any other meet we'd been to this year," he said. "It was the big one, of course, but I still knew what I had to do. I didn't place like I'd have liked to have, but the competition was fantastic — it was just great."

Evermann finished 10th in the NCAA tournament with an 8.95 average on his compulsory routines and 9.0 on his optionals for a total score of 17.75 which left him just a half point out of the final round of six.

The junior from Lincoln High averaged 8.48 on the season, but anticipates scoring in low 9s next year, indicating that his average wasn't quite what he thought it should be, he said "There were a lot of times this year that a little extra strength in my religion would have made a difference — especially in the big meets." His plans for next year: "Nothing less than first in the Big 8."

Batten had the best year for an NU gymnast in years, averaging 9.0 in floor exercise, 8.97 in vaulting and 9.2 on the high bar, winning two Big 8 titles and just missing the national finals — finishing seventh in vaulting and eighth on the high bar.

"I was satisfied with my routines at the nationals," Batten said. "I did the best I could — like I had all year but I missed by two tenths of a point in both events (high bar and vaulting). That's a close range, but still a wide range in that competition."

—CHICAGO DROPS CLEVELAND—

Bond's Homer Gives Giants Extra Inning Triumph, 8-6

By Associated Press

Bobby Bonds of the San Francisco Giants and Dick Allen of the Chicago White Sox each slammed two-run, 10th-inning home runs to lift their teams to victory Wednesday.

Bond's second homer of the year climaxed a four-run rally to beat the Philadelphia Phillies 8-6. It came after Willie Mays walked and Chris Arnold singled and both moved up on a wild pitch by the Phil's Darrell Brandon. An infield out scored Mays before Chris Speier tripled and Bonds homered.

The Giants led 4-2 going into the ninth inning on two Dave Kingman home runs and a two-run double by Dave Rader. Terry Harmon tripled with two aboard in the ninth to tie the score for the Phils, who went ahead in the 10th on a two-run double by Tim McCarver.

Allen's blast broke a tie for Chicago's 7-5 victory over Cleveland. The White Sox wiped out an early 4-0 Indian lead on Mike Andrew's grand slam homer.

Bill Melton gave Chicago a 5-4 lead in the eighth inning with an RBI-single but the Indians tied the score in the ninth when Alex Johnson doubled and raced home on a pinch-hit single by John Lowenstein.

Vida Pinson doubled in a run in the fourth inning, then scored on Jim Spencer's single for the California Angels in a 3-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers. Ken Berry drove in the third Angel run in the seventh. The Brewers scored in the ninth on three singles.

A Harmon Killebrew single in the first and singles by Rod Carew and Steve Braun in the third drove in Minnesota runs in the 3-1 Twins' victory over the Boston Red Sox. Dick Woodson was the winner with from Dave LaRoche, who help shut off a Red Sox threat in ninth inning.

In night game action in the American League, Oakland fell to New York 4-2, Kansas City downed Baltimore 5-3, and Detroit bumped Texas 8-1.

The world champion Pittsburgh Pirates fell to Cincinnati 7-6 in one of the National League night games while St. Louis stopped Atlanta 9-4, Houston slipped past Chicago 5-4 and on the coast, it was New York over San Diego 5-1 and Los Angeles over Montreal 2-0.

Huskers Sign Javelin Thrower

Wayne Ritchie, a javelin thrower from Medford, Ore, has signed a national letter of intent to attend the University of Nebraska.

Ritchie, 6-4 and 225 pounds, had a best throw of 226-8½ as a junior last season. Also a football standout, he hopes to try to combine the two sports at Nebraska.

Three Free Agents Sign With Patriots

Foxboro, Mass. (AP) —The New England Patriots of the National Football League announced Wednesday the signing of three more players for trials as free agents.

Added to the roster were Willie Banks, a 260-pound guard with four years in the NFL with Washington and the New York Giants; 270-pound offensive tackle Bruce Mitchell of Kansas, and Clarence McGill, a former defensive end at Syracuse.

Carlson Will Receive First Swanson Award

Dr. Norman C. Carlson of Lincoln, long-time booster of the University of Nebraska Athletic Department, has been selected to receive the first annual Clarence E. Swanson Memorial Award.

The Swanson Award, inaugurated last year, is presented annually by the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame to a Nebraska Alumnus or friend who serves the Cornhusker cause through dedicated service to the University athletic program and his fellow citizens.

Dr. Carlson, a graduate of the University of Nebraska Dental College, has given of his time and energy to assist numerous Cornhusker coaches and athletes.

"Dr. Carlson has been an outstanding contributor in many ways to our athletic program," athletic director Bob Devaney says. "He has always been ready to counsel our athletes who have an interest in dentistry, or to visit with recruits who are interested in dentistry. Whether it be visiting at lunch or showing recruits the city, Dr. Carlson has always been ready to serve the University. We are very indebted to him and we appreciate his long years of service."

Dr. Carlson will be honored, along with seven entrants to the Hall of Fame, at the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame dinner Monday at the Legionnaire Club. Memberships and banquet tickets are available at the Sports Information Office, 109 Coliseum.

Entering the Hall of Fame will be Dave Noble, Tom Novak, Charley Brock, Bobby Reynolds, Roy (Link) Lyman, Sam Francis and Lloyd Cardwell.

The Swanson Award was started in memory of the late Cornhusker football great and longtime Nebraska Regent, who devoted his life to community service and service to the NU Athletic Department.

Athletic director Bob Devaney, installed in the Nebraska Hall of Fame last year, will present the Swanson Award to Dr. Carlson.

OSU Holds Second Spot

Kansas City Mo. — Oklahoma State may be as hard to dislodge from its second place spot as Oklahoma will be from its first place slot going into the final round of the race for the Big Eight's tennis championships.

It will be three weeks before the league's teams convene at the Homestead Country Club in nearby Praire Village, Kan., to add the final points to this years chase; however, both Oklahoma and Oklahoma State have completed their league round-robin schedule.

During the past weekend's play, the Sooners finally lost some points. Dropping two to Missouri and one each to Oklahoma State and Colorado, the defending champions will go into the matches to determine the individual and doubles-teams champions holding 59 match points.

Closest will be Oklahoma State, holding 42 points now. The Cowboys do have one doubles match left against Colorado, a match postponed until the May gathering because of darkness as the Pokes and the Buffs struggled through four time-consuming three-set matches in their dual meet which stands even at 4-4 now.

This week's schedule has Nebraska at Colorado, and Kansas and Kansas State at Missouri on Saturday. Kansas will be at Nebraska on Monday.

The Standings:

	Points Won	Points Won
Oklahoma	59	4
Oklahoma State	42	20
Missouri	23	22
Kansas State	14	22
Colorado	11	15
Kansas	6	21

Vikings Trade Cuozzo For Cardinals Gilliam

St. Paul-Minneapolis (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings traded veteran National Football League quarterback Gary Cuozzo to the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday for wide receiver John Gilliam and two draft choices.

Cuozzo, who shared the quarterbacking duties a year ago but played out the season without a contract to become a free agent, had asked the Vikings to play him or trade him. He would have become a free agent May 1.

In addition to Gilliam, the Vikings get the Cardinals' No. 2 draft choice, and the No. 4 draft choice they gave to St. Louis last year when Dale Hackbart went to the Cardinals for Bob Brown and Nate Wright.

The trade of Cuozzo seemed imminent after the Vikings sent quarterback Norm Snead, wide receiver Bob Grim, running back Vince Clements and two draft choices to the New York Giants for scrambling Fran Tarkenton, who started his career in Minnesota.

The departure of Grim, who led the Vikings with 45, receptions and for 691 yards and seven touchdowns, and the suspension of Al Denton created a need for a receiver such as Gilliam. John Henderson and Gene Washington, both plagued by injuries last year, were the only proven receivers on the roster.

Gilliam has played five seasons in the NFL, the last three with the Cardinals. The South Carolina State speedster returned his first kickoff of New Orleans' first NFL game 94 yards for a touchdown. He is 6-foot-1 and weighs 195 pounds.

Cuozzo, who ironically was 31 Wednesday, has played nine seasons in the NFL with Baltimore, New Orleans and Minnesota.

Cuozzo completed 75 of 168 passes for 842 yards and six touchdowns — with six interceptions — in sharing the job with Snead and Bob Lee last year. Cuozzo, nearing completion of his studies to become an orthodonist, has passed for 38 career touchdowns and more than 6,500 yards.

He started his career as a backup to Johnny Unitas for four seasons at Baltimore, spent 1967 at New Orleans and then served as Joe Kapp's backup in Minnesota in 1968 and 1969.

Cuozzo started most of the 1970 season as the Vikings won the Central Division title of the National Conference.

Catfish Said To Be Sold Commercially

Fremont (AP) — Elliott Hechtman of Omaha announced plans Wednesday to produce channel catfish on a commercial scale at a site to be located east of the Lon D. Wright Memorial Power Plant in Fremont.

Aquarium Farms, Inc., formed by Hechtman, will operate the pilot plant under an agreement with the city.

The plant will use heated water from the power plant in its production.

Hechtman said live catfish will be sold to the public after October on a limited basis. Processing of these fish into table-ready food will be done at a plant in Spirit Lake, Iowa, he said.

He said the plant will provide more than 1 million catfish, weighing more than one pound, during a calendar year beginning in November.

A second production plant should be in operation by March within 300 miles of Fremont, he said, but did not specify the plant's location.

Syracuse's Steinkuhler Seeks Gold Medal In Discus Competition

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Syracuse High discus thrower Mary Steinkuhler won the Class B title at the initial girls state high school track meet last spring as a junior. But she wasn't completely satisfied or happy and promised herself she'd work even harder this season.

"She lost out on the Gold Medal to the Class A winner by just three inches," Syracuse coach K. Appelget explains.

The hard work this year is paying off. Mary spun the platter out 115-11 at the Twin Rivers Conference meet in Nebraska City last week to take over the No. 1 position on the current top ten chart.

"That's nearly three feet farther than the toss which won the Gold Medal last year," Appelget notes, "and she's been over 117 feet in practice a couple of times."

Syracuse is proud of its girls track program. "Though the state meet was held for the first time last year," Appelget explains, "we could see it coming and jumped in early, establishing a team four seasons ago."

Appelget spotted Mary that first year playing volleyball. "She was just a freshman but was about 5-10 and growing," he remembers. "I figured right then, 'There's our discus thrower.' "

Miss Steinkuhler is now a well-proportioned six-footer. "Actually I'm a little taller than six feet," Mary admits, "but I think I'm through growing . . . at least I hope so."

Appelget says all the girls on his team are easy to coach. "They're all real ambitious and dedicated and have lots of team spirit," he says. "The only thing is you can't treat them like girls. You gotta holler at 'em just like you were coaching a boys team."

The Syracuse coach feels that a lot of little things, including new fancy double-knit uniforms help the spirit of the team.

"I agree," Mary adds. "The idea of working hard just to earn the right to have one of the uniforms helps. They're really nice. A pretty green color with a gold stripe."

Rhonda Peterson of Alliance won the Class A crown last spring at the state meet and the Gold Medal. She's back again, but will compete against Mary since Alliance dropped in enrollment and is now Class B.

"There are several very good discus throwers," Mary observes. "But my goal is 120 feet or better which I hope to reach by the state meet."

Sara Schanno of Beatrice is currently second in the state at 114-½, with McCook's Donna Short third at 112-7½. Then comes Miss Peterson at 112-5.

"One of the great things about track," Mary says, "is the chance to meet girls from the other schools. But that doesn't mean you have to be such good friends with the others that you don't want to beat them."

The current top ten charts show several other outstanding event-leading efforts.

North Platte sprinter Shelley Thompson moved into a tie for the 50-yard dash leadership at :06.1 with Haigler's Galena Collicott, and Miss Thompson is now the sole pacesetter in the 100 at :11.0.

LEGAL NOTICE OF MEASURES TO BE VOTED UPON MAY 9, 1972. BALLOT TITLES AND TEXTS OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS PROPOSED BY THE EIGHTY-SECOND LEGISLATURE, FIRST SESSION, 1971 AND SECOND SESSION, 1972.

Also Included Are Statements Of Explanation In Italics Prepared By The Executive Board Of The Legislative Council.

PROPOSED BY THE 1971 AND 1972 LEGISLATURE

Proposed Amendment No. 1

A vote FOR this proposal will remove from Article III, section 13, of the Constitution language referring to two houses of the Legislature. This language has been obsolete since 1934 when other sections were amended to provide for a unicameral Legislature.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will retain this obsolete language in the Constitution.

"Constitutional amendment clarifying the meaning and eliminating obsolete matter.

☐ For ☐ Against"

TEXT OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Be it enacted by the people of the State of Nebraska,

Section 1. That at the primary election in May, 1972, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to Article III, section 13, of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature:

> "Sec. 13. The style of all bills shall be, "Be it enacted by the people of the State of Nebraska," and no law shall be enacted except by bill. No bill shall be passed by the Legislature unless by the assent of a majority of all members elected and the yeas and nays on the question of final passage of any bill shall be entered upon the journal."

Proposed Amendment No. 2

A vote FOR this amendment will remove the present restriction providing that legislative appropriations extend only until the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the next regular session, thus allowing the Legislature the choice of making appropriations for one year or continuing for a period longer than one year. A vote FOR this amendment would also remove the present restriction providing that deficiency appropriations shall not exceed the amount of revenue authorized by law to be raised during the time for which the deficiency appropriation is made.

A vote AGAINST this amendment would retain the present restriction requiring regular appropriations to extend for no more than one year, and limiting deficiency appropriations to be no more than the amount of revenue authorized to be raised during the period for which the deficiency appropriation is made.

"Constitutional amendment eliminating the requirement that the Legislature make appropriations until the expiration of the first quarter after the adjournment of the next regular session.

TEXT OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Be it enacted by the people of the State of Nebraska,

Section 1. That at the primary election in May, 1972, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to Article III, section 22, of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature:

> "Sec. 22. Each Legislature shall make appropriations for the expenses of the Government. And whenever it is deemed necessary to make further appropriations for deficiencies, the same shall require a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to the Legislature. Bills making appropriations for the pay of members and officers of the Legislature, and for the salaries of the officers of the Government, shall contain no provision on any other subject."

Proposed Amendment No. 3

A vote FOR this proposal will:

1. Require the Governor to submit to each regular session of the Legislature at a time fixed by law a budget bill to be introduced by the Speaker of the Legislature;

2. Require a three-fifths vote of the Legislature for appropriations exceeding the amount in the Governor's budget and any amendments he may make to that budget;

3. Permit the Governor to veto items which exceed his budget or to reduce any amounts which he does not approve;

4. Require a three-fifths vote of the Legislature to override the governor's veto of any bill or his veto or reduction of any appropriation.

A vote AGAINST this proposal will retain the present provisions which:

1. Require the Governor to submit a budget message, but not necessarily a bill, within thirty days after the opening of each regular session of the Legislature;

2. Require a two-thirds vote of the Legislature for appropriations exceeding the Governor's budget;

3. Prohibit the Governor from vetoing any appropriation exceeding his budget if the appropriation was adopted by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature, and prohibit the Governor from reducing any appropriations adopted by the Legislature;

4. Require a three-fifths vote of the Legislature to override the Governor's veto of any bill.

"Constitutional amendment directing the Governor to prepare a budget bill to be introduced by the Speaker of the Legislature and changing veto powers of the bill by the Governor and effect thereof; also to eliminate obsolete matter.

TEXT OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Be it enacted by the people of the State of Nebraska,

Section 1. That at the primary election in May, 1972, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to Article IV, sections 7 and 15, of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature:

> "Sec. 7. The Governor may, at the commencement of each session, and at the close of his term of office and whenever the Legislature may require, give by message to the Legislature information of the condition of the state, and shall recommend such measures as he shall deem expedient. At a time fixed by law, he shall present, by message, a complete itemized budget of the financial requirements of all departments, institutions and agencies of the state and a budget bill to be introduced by the Speaker of the Legislature at the request of the Governor. Said budget bill shall be prepared with such expert assistance and under such regulations as may be required by the Governor. No appropriations shall be made in excess of the recommendation contained in such budget including any amendment the Governor may make thereto unless by three-fifths vote of the Legislature, and such excess so approved shall be subject to veto by the Governor.

> "Sec. 15. Every bill passed by the Legislature, before it becomes a law, and every order, resolution or vote (except on questions of adjournment) shall be presented to the Governor. If he approves he shall sign it, and thereupon it shall become a law, but if he does not approve or reduces any item or items of appropriations, he shall return it with his objections to the Legislature, which shall enter the objections at large upon its journal, and proceed to reconsider the bill. If then three-fifths of the members elected agree to pass the same it shall become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor. In all such cases the vote shall be determined by yeas and nays, to be entered upon the journal. Any bill which shall not be returned by the Governor within five days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, shall become a law in like manner as if he had signed it; unless the Legislature by their adjournment prevent its return; in which case it shall be filed, with his objections, in the office of the Secretary of State within five days after such adjournment, or become a law. The Governor may disapprove or reduce any item or items of appropriation contained in bills passed by the Legislature, and the item or items so disapproved shall be stricken therefrom, and the items reduced shall remain as reduced unless repassed in the manner herein prescribed in cases of disapproval of bills."

Proposed Amendment No. 4

A vote FOR this proposal would permit a juvenile court judicial district to be established or abolished by a majority of the persons voting on the issue. This would reduce the number of votes required to establish or abolish a district, since the Constitution now requires a majority vote of all electors in the district.

A vote AGAINST this proposal would retain the requirement for a majority vote of all electors in the district to establish or abolish a juvenile court judicial district.

"Constitutional amendment providing for the creation or abolishment of juvenile court judicial districts by a majority of those voting on the issue.

Section 1. That at the primary election in May, 1972, there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to Article XIII, section 2, and repeal of Article XV, section 16, of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature:

Two Grenades Kill At Least 11 North Of Manila

Manila (UPI) — Terrorists tossed two fragmentation grenades into the midst of dancers at a fiesta, killing at least 11 and injuring nearly 200.

Authorities said the attack appeared to be an attempt to assassinate Gov. Luis "Chavit" Singson of politically turbulent Ilocos Sur Province, who was attending the fiesta at Cabugao Town in the province 200 miles north of Manila.

Singson, 30, who has survived at least five other assassination attempts, had crowned the fiesta queen and had just started to dance with her when the two grenades ripped through the merry-makers.

Falls City Gets Federal Funds For New Airport

Falls City (AP) — Falls City has been awarded $208,500 in federal funds for a new airport, it learned Wednesday.

Bernie Kreifels, airport authority director, said the notification came through the offices of Senators Roman Hruska and Carl T. Curtis and Rep. Charles Thone, 1st District representative.

The grant will provide for purchase of 39 acres of land, 10.6 acres of easements and construction of a northwest-southeast runway, apron, taxiway, and slope indicator at both ends of the runway.

Bombs Destroyed

Port Moresby, New Guinea (AP) — Australian troops have destroyed about 50 chemical bombs which lay unnoticed for nearly three decades in the jungle at the end of a World War II runway.

SALESMEN ARE RARE
You have to find them one at a time

Certified Laboratories is looking for a special kind of person — not a specialized set of skills.

Our many faceted business involves the manufacture and sale of specialty chemicals and related product lines to the industrial, institutional and commercial markets, and we need outstanding people in sales and sales management. The backgrounds of our salespeople are varied; some are experienced salesmen, some not. We are interested in the individual and are willing to invest our time, money and effort in training the right person to become successful.

If you can work well under normal business pressures, make decisions, and learn to lead others, Certified Laboratories can offer you an outstanding career opportunity now.

Weekly drawing account up to $300 per week against excellent commission structure. The average income of our salesmen after their first year is over $18,000 annually and they have a growth potential dependent only upon their own ability. Rewards are directly proportional to individual effort.

We have been growing at a 20% rate annually for the past nine (9) years and intend to continue. Thus, at Certified Laboratories you dont stand in line for opportunity; your future is limited only by yourself. No previous sales or technical background necessary for the right person.

If interested, we would like to talk to you. Call St. Louis, Mo., station-to-station, collect, Friday, April 28, after 9:00 A.M. or Saturday April 29, 9:00 A.M. to 12:00 Noon, 314-727-2158. If unable to call, please write airmail to:

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
